ADB CUTS INDIA'S FY22 GROWTH FORECAST

The Asian Development Bank (ADB) downgraded India's economic growth forecast for the current fiscal to 10 pc on Tuesday, from 11 pc projected earlier this year, mainly on account of the Covid-19 impact. Meanwhile, the inflation forecast for South Asia, has been raised for 2021 to 5.8 pc from 5.5 pc, mainly reflecting a higher forecast for India, the agency said in the Asian Development Outlook Supplement, which was released in April.

JEFF BEZOS BLASTS OFF INTO SPACE ON NEW SHEPARD

Amazon founder Jeff Bezos blasted off into space on Tuesday on his rocket company Blue Origin's first flight, New Shepard

2ND BILLIONAIRE IN A WEEK TO RIDE OWN CRAFT

Bezos became the second billionaire in just over a week to ride his own spacecraft. Virgin Galactic's Richard Branson pushed up his own flight from New Mexico and beat him to space by nine days. The Amazon founder was accompanied by his brother, an 18-year-old from the Netherlands and an 82-year-old aviation pioneer from Texas, on the 10-minute flight.

A 6-G EXPERIENCE

- New Shepard reached an altitude of about 106 km, with the 60-foot booster accelerating to Mach 3
- The passengers had several minutes of weightlessness. The capsule landed under parachutes with Bezos and his guests briefly experiencing nearly six times the force of gravity | P18

OPPN, GOVT SPAR OVER 'HIDING' DEATHS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Opposition on Tuesday accused the BJP-led government of 'hiding' the exact number of Covid deaths, saying the official figures reflect only a fraction of actual fatalities. The parties, led by the Congress, also panned the Centre for the inordinate delay in vaccinating people and demanded to know the preparedness for the third wave of the pandemic.

During the discussion on the management of Covid-19 in the Rajya Sabha, members demanded that the Centre provide correct data of Covid-19 deaths.

Alleging large-scale under-reporting of Covid deaths, Congress leader Mallikarjun Kharge said the Centre declared victory over Covid when people were still dying, and conducted huge election rallies. "India has 6.38 lakh villages. If even five people die in a village due to Covid, it comes to 21 lakh and may go up to 52 lakh. But the government claims 4-5 lakh only," he said.

TMC MP Dr Santanu Sen said if the Centre was so concerned about Covid-19 management, why did it decide to have an eight-phase election in West Bengal.

In its response, the Centre said it compiles and puts out data sent by state governments and that it hasn't asked any state to suppress Covid fatalities. Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said vaccine production is being ramped up to cover all eligible population in the country.

Later in the day, major opposition parties barring the Congress participated in the all-party meeting on the Covid situation. P11

Pegasus may have helped end JDS-Cong govt

Phones of Parameshwara, personal secretaries of Kumaraswamy and Siddaramaiah, gunman of Deve Gowda tapped, says report

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN continued revelations under 'Pegasus Project' through investigations by an international consortium of journalists into illegal surveillance, it was alleged on Tuesday that illegal snooping could have helped topple the JDS-Congress coalition government in Karnataka in 2019.

In its third tranche of reports on the alleged illegal use of Pegasus spyware, The Wire reported that phone numbers of coalition government's deputy chief minister G Parameshwara, personal secretaries of then chief minister HD Kumaraswamy and former chief minister Siddaramaiah, and a gunman working with former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda were among the people whose phones were tapped.

While the report suggests that it was not possible to conclusively establish that these phones were infected or subjected to an attempted hack since they did not undergo digital forensic testing, personal secretaries of Kumaraswamy and Siddaramaiah, Gowda's gunman and Parameshwara confirmed that they were using the said phone numbers during the coalition government. The report suggested that the snooping could have helped bring down the coalition government.

The Wire said two phone numbers belonging to Satish, Kumaraswamy's personal secretary, were chosen for potential targeting in mid-2019 when the coalition government was struggling to win back the rebels who eventually joined BJP and went on to become ministers in the BS Yediyurappa-led BJP government.

The phone number of Siddaramaiah's personal secretary Venkatesh, who has been working with him for 27 years, was also added in the same period, the report said. A phone number of a policeman, Manjunath Muddegowda, a security staffer of JD(S) patriarch Gowda, also appears in the leaked records. P6

DEPUTY CM REJECTS ALL ALLEGATIONS, TRASHES SPYWARE REPORTS

Karnataka's Deputy Chief Minister and Minister for IT Dr CN Ashwath Narayan categorically rejected all allegations made under the 'Pegasus Project' so far. He reiterated his party's stand in Parliament that the allegations were made with mala fide intent to defame India and the Narendra Modi-led BJP government at the Centre. "Congress' allegations that the BJP government has been snooping on various individuals are baseless and unsubstantiated. Even the Congress has provided no proof of such snooping or phone tapping. Such tapping is Congress' practice, not BJP's. During 2013 UPA government, at least 3,000 phones and 500 mail IDs were under scrutiny every month. This is an attempt by Amnesty International to defame our party and our government," he insisted. There is an attempt by 'anti-nationals' and 'foreign agents' to defame the BJP government, he added.

House's Pegasus paralysis

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

A united Opposition on Tuesday decided to continue paralysing Parliament demanding that the Modi government come clean on Israeli spyware Pegasus, following an expose on its possible use to snoop into smartphone conversations of loads of politicians, journalists and other prominent persons.

Leaders of Opposition parties in Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha met before Parliament's proceedings began and agreed to keep up the pressure on the Centre to reveal whether it is part of Peagsus' clientele, since the NSO group, which owns the spyware, claims it sells it only to vetted governments. With new revelations suggesting that Pegasus could have been used to topple the JD(S)-Cong coalition government in Karnataka led by H D Kumaraswamy, the Congress felt the matter will resonate in the House.

Congress Chief Whip in Lok Sabha K Suresh said the Opposition will collectively continue to protest inside both Houses from Thursday. Parliament is closed on Wednesday to mark Bakrid.

While Lok Sabha was adjourned for the second successive day without transacting any business following protests from the Opposition, there was consensus on Rajya Sabha taking up a short discussion on the management of the pandemic.

Of 2.22 cr people vaxxed, 1.67 cr yet to get second shot

RANJANI MADHAVAN @ Bengaluru

ONLY 54 lakh out of 2.22 crore people in Karnataka have got their second dose of Covid vaccine, because of insufficient supply, long gap between two doses of Covishield and technical issues with the Covid portal, CoWIN.

Only 24.50 per cent of those who received the first dose, that is 54,52,069 out of 2,22,51,400 (2.22 crore) have got the second dose.

Hospitals said that people are turning up in large numbers for their second dose, but issues surrounding the drive are affecting the national initiative.

"The gap between two doses of Covishield increased from six-eight weeks to 12-16 weeks, which is why many beneficiaries are not yet due for the second dose. The vaccine supply is also erratic and insufficient, but it is better now than before. We used to get 50 vials per week earlier which has been increased to 50 vials once every three days. Every day, 600-700 people come to our hospital, of them 400-500 get the vaccine," said a doctor from Victoria Hospital, adding that the remaining 200-odd have to return.

At KC General Hospital, a board is put up whenever they run out of vaccine stocks. Doctors here claimed that when they raise an indent, the supplies come from Dasappa Hospital.

"On weekdays, we vaccinate around 700 people per day and on weekends it varies between 1,000 and 1,2000 for both Covishield and Covaxin, including those getting their first and second doses. There is no shortage," claimed Dr B R Venkateshaiah, Medical Superintendent, KC General Hospital in Bengaluru.

Lingayat seers come out in force to back BSY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru/Chitradurga/Davangere

AMID intense speculation over leadership change in the State, Lingayat seers from different mutts strongly backed the community strongman BS Yediyurappa, and warned the BJP central leadership against removing him from the chief minister's post.

While over 30 seers from various mutts met Yediyurappa at his residence in Bengaluru on Tuesday, several other powerful religious heads came out in his support at Chitradurga, Davangere and Kolar. Any move to dislodge the leader will lead to serious repercussions, they warned.

The big swell of support came a day after senior Lingayat leaders, even in opposition Congress, openly backed Yediyurappa and asked BJP to treat him with respect.

"We are making it clear that BJP leaders will have to face consequences if they remove Yediyurappa from the chief minister's post. BJP has come to power only because of him and they should allow him to continue," said Dingaleshwara Swamiji of Balehosur Mutt in Gadag district after meeting the chief minister.

He said that during the meeting, Yediyurappa told them that he is not in a position to speak anything and he will abide by the high command's decision. "He was not allowed to complete his tenure in the past and again there is a talk of leadership change. Not just Lingayats, everyone in the State is pained," he remarked, adding that in the next two to three days, around 300 seers from across the State will gather in Bengaluru to discuss the next course of action. NO EXAMS, BUT PU II RESULTS SHOW BIG JUMP

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @ Bengaluru

THE results of second Pre-University classes, for which no exams were held due to the Covid pandemic, saw some remarkable figures this year. The results, which were announced on Tuesday, witnessed a 38.86 per cent jump in the number of students securing distinction, 60 per cent increase in those who got first class, a whopping 89.85 per cent jump in the number of students who scored second class and 39.94 percent increase in the number of students who got pass marks.

The number of students who cleared Second PU increased by 59.71 per cent, or 2,49,200, this year as compared to last year. In all, 6.66 lakh students have cleared second PU. Repeaters too were passed this year with 5 per cent grace marks in addition to the minimum pass grades.

A majority of 62,548 'just pass' students were repeaters, while 6,181 were freshers. There was an increase of 19,619 such students.

State Govt to increase DA by 11 per cent

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE State Government has decided to increase the Dearness Allowance (DA) for its employees and pensioners by 11 per cent with effect from July 1 this year. The order will be issued by Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa in two to three days, said the Karnataka State Government Employees Association on Tuesday.

The Association stated that after their memorandum, the Chief Minister directed the Finance Department to issue an order and to approve the increase in DA that had been held up since the beginning of this year due to the Covid pandemic. The Association had appealed to the Chief Minister to release the DA hike in three instalments. Association president CS Shadakshari said the new order will help six lakh state government employees and 4.5 lakh pensioners along with three lakh staffers working with various boards and corporations.

Site visits dropped drastically due to restriction on movement till mid-June

Real estate prices dipped during pandemic: Report

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE city has witnessed a dip in real estate prices during the Covid pandemic and the focus has shifted to medical exigencies, states the quarterly Insite report released by 99acres.com.

The rise in Covid infections shifted the focus of families to medical exigencies, which shelved any real estate deals for the time being. Restrictions on movement amid lockdown till mid-June also drastically brought down site visits, the report said.

Maneesh Upadhyaya, Chief Business Officer, 99acres.com said, "The Indian economy went through a tumultuous time during April and June 2021 while battling the pandemic. Like most sectors, transactions in real estate market too came to a grinding halt in April with lockdown restrictions."

There was a revival in the January-March quarter, which witnessed site visits, home enquiries and sales volume going up in both new home and resale segments. But during April-May, the sector recorded an unprecedented dip in numbers. As people battled for medical care, sale and purchase of homes was put on the backburner, he added.

The report pointed out that the fear of delay in construction of ongoing projects also resulted in a steady demand for ready homes, especially resale homes, during April and June 2021. Developers concentrated on attracting potential buyers in ready and under-construction segments by offering various discounts such as 20:80 payment plan, flexible booking amount, zero cancellation fee, free car parking or interiors, and EMI waivers. These incentives did little to attract buyers.

Premium floor area ratio yet to be implemented

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

The government has permitted agencies to utilise the premium floor area ratio (FAR) for their benefit under the Karnataka Planning Authority rules in June. However, it is yet to be implemented in Bengaluru and other districts in the state.

The Karnataka Planning Authority has also set the upper limit for the FAR for the impact zones. "The rules have been made by the government, but the district administrations and the BDA or the Bangalore Metropolitan Region Development Authority are yet to make any proposal for the implementation," a senior Urban Development Department (UDD) official told TNIE.

The official said no time limit has been set to prepare the draft and the documents are gathering dust. "Premium FAR was a long-pending proposal. The BDA was supposed to take up the exercise of zoning regulations and creation of impact zones so that premium FAR can be implemented, but nothing has been done," the UDD official added.

Looking at the present situation, the UDD has suggested that a special committee be set up for the planning and implementation of FAR.

Meanwhile, the it has told agencies that instead of the earlier plan of a 1 km radius along premium projects like Metro line, outer ring road, the premium FAR limit be reduced to 500 metres.

The official said this direction was issued to draw private investors and government-based agencies, but it didn't show desired result.

Chord Rd flyover gaps not a worry: Palike

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AS if the delay in completion of projects and bad road conditions were not enough, now the gaps on the wall leading to the the recently-constructed West of Chord Road flyover has only made matters worse for commuters.

The BBMP officials on Tuesday had a tough time convincing citizens that the gaps in the flyover were nothing to be worried about, and that it was a technical glitch. Citizens are not convinced as a portion of the road on Summanahalli flyover collapsing last year, is still fresh in people's mind.

BBMP chief engineer, Projects, Lokesh said there is no crack in the structure. "The gap in the technical joint of the ramp walls, connecting to the flyover, has just become exposed," he added. He explained that a gap is maintained between joint intentionally for expansion and contraction. "It is usually covered with construction materials. In this case, it was left to be filled up when the entire project is completed. However, to ensure there is no water seepage in monsoon, it has been decided to address the issue first and then take up another round of inspection and check once the entire structure is ready," he added.

"There is no problem with the structure and the underpass or flyover doesn't need to be closed for that. It is a regular wear and tear issue. Once the entire flyover work is completed and connected to the underpass, then a complete check and correction will be done," Lokesh said. The flyover was completed around three years ago.

"BDA and BBMP are known not just for delayed work but also for lethargic work. Earlier, similar gaps were reported on Mysuru Road flyover after which the BBMP had undertaken repair of the entire structure. The Summanahalli flyover incident was also a reminder of laxity in maintenance and checks. Now, the case of the newly-constructed West of Chord Road underpass is a shocker," said a UDD official seeking anonymity. "Last year, the BBMP had decided to undertake a check of all the structures under its limits. Contractors, agencies and committees were to be appointed. However, nothing was done. After vehicle movement started on the flyovers, the matter was brushed under the carpet," he added.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said he will check the defect liability period and clause and address the issue immediately.

The 5-acre land under dispute which is delaying completion of land acquistion for Bengaluru Metro's Airport Line

HC order delays land acquisition for Metro's Airport Line further

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A recent High Court order has questioned the authority of KAS cadre officers to take the final decision when it comes to hearing of appeals under the Karnataka Land Revenue Act. This has come as a blow to the BMRCL, which is looking at winding up the land acquisition for its Airport Line project. While it has completed acquiring 87% of the land for the project, a specific parcel of land is stuck as it awaits a final call by the special deputy commissioner, a KAS officer.

The court order states that KAS officers working as special DCs should not dispose of matters under Section 136 (3) of Land Revenue Act. The court has opined that only the IAS cadre has the power to perform this role and has put the matter on hold. The land in question is 20,235 sqm (5 acres) required for the Shettygere depot that will be constructed near the Trumpet of the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA). The depot, to be used for stabling and maintenance purposes, forms a part of the 38.44-km Phase 2B line from KR Puram to Kempegowda line. The Rs 10,584 crore-line has a deadline of September 2025.

Madhumati Shantaraj has staked claim to this portion of government land and wants compensation for it as she insists her family had legally purchased it. A reliable source said, "Shantaraj says it was purchased by her husband in 1974 from one Shyla Hegde, who in turn had purchased it from a person who was allegedly granted the piece of land by the state government." There are allegedly no records in the Tahsildar office to prove that this piece of land was granted by the government to any individual.

The matter was pending before the special DC for months and a solution was expected, the source added. The recent court ruling is set to delay the acquisition process further.

The official added that of the 3,13,357 sqm of land required, only 2,91,470 sqm had been acquired and handed over to the engineering department to carry out works.

The contract is still in the process of being finalised.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

21st July: If I could venture a prediction about the near future, based on current Neptunian alignments, I'd expect to see revelations of scandal. We do tend to get this sort of thing daily, especially now that television flashes news around the world in an instant. So, perhaps we're soon to hear about something really big, and really surprising!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
In spite of the current calm, the seeds of a major dispute have already been sown, but it's never too late to head off a confrontation that is far from inevitable. Use all your social skills to spread peace and harmony, and make up for recent arguments.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There is much to be gained from compromise, so if partners are being awkward then it's important not to rise to the bait. It's much more useful to get on with your own affairs; no good is served by muscling in on differences of opinion which do not concern you.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Under Mercury's invigorating and imaginative presence, short journeys will prove most successful if you invite others to come along, or team up with people you meet along the way. Partners will be happy to help out with routine details and to check practical instructions.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Although pressures are few, the week continues on a busy note with plenty to keep you occupied. In addition to which, friendly meetings could compensate for an upset that is still fresh in your mind. Do your best to make up, and ensure that a friend knows you meant no harm.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Seize the opportunity to spend some time enjoying your own company rather than always chasing around after other people. If partners have unrealistically high expectations, they'll just have to learn to alter them. After all, you're unlikely to change, first!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Partners still have the advantage whether you like it or not. So, why not relax for a while and let them seize the reins? Allow others to take the responsibility they crave and trust them to do their best. Younger relations and children deserve your trust as well.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
This is an ideal day to sort out lingering financial issues, especially as pressure from creditors or debtors is never far away. Your attitude to money is shaped by changing moods, so expect a shift of tack. Family pressures are still strong- and breeding confusion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's hardly a good day for routine chores, although inevitably even you have to cope with the mundane side of life, sometimes. You may have added to your load by picking up a few extra responsibilities recently. But you can always change your mind if it's all just too much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Please move fast to put recent opportunities and speculative agreements on a sound footing, especially if there's an overseas dimension, or troublesome, legal details to be resolved. You have everything to play for at the moment, so give it all you've got.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Your mood seems to be changeable, and the best experiences will come from mixing with family members, taking trips to beautiful places and indulging in cultural entertainments. It's important for the overall quality of your life that you give such activities a higher priority.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Associates have a habit of disagreeing with your way of doing things, even if you are convinced you are right. You really should take criticism seriously as it could help improve your performance in future. And the future is now very much what you're concerned about.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Positive planetary influences are bringing a chance of serious co-operation between friends and associates. Even if not directly involved, you may be working behind the scenes for reconciliation between people who have fallen out, or just refuse to get on.

K'TAKA SEES LOWEST SINGLE-DAY DEATHS

BENGALURU: Karnataka on Tuesday reported the lowest number of deaths in a single day at 29, while 14 districts reported no deaths. So far, the state has recorded a total of 36,226 Covid-19 casualties. The state also recorded 1,464 new cases with 2,706 discharges on Tuesday. The positivity rate across the state had dropped below 5 per cent. Chikkamagaluru district has the highest positivity rate at 4.24 per cent, followed by Dakshina Kannada at 3.03 per cent, Kodagu at 2.84 per cent and Udupi at 2.83 per cent. Meanwhile, over the past seven days, four district - Bidar, Kalaburgi, Gadag, Yadgir - have reported zero per cent case fatality rate. ENS

Mapping dengue hotspots can predict outbreaks

Experts say this will help deal with future cases of Zika, chikungunya

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

A recent research paper, published in the Lancet Planetary Health, says that identifying dengue fever "hotspots" can provide a predictive map for future outbreaks of Zika and chikungunya.

All these three viral diseases are spread by the Aedes aegypti mosquito.

Public health experts in the state say this is the best way to even prevent co-infections of Covid-19 and dengue. The number of such co-infections is increasing in the state.

"The study, conducted in Mexico, provides a risk stratification method to guide the control of diseases spread by Aedes aegypti more effectively. This can help public health officials to conduct targeted, proactive interventions for emerging Aedes-borne diseases," said a senior public health expert. He said that such mapping of hotspots can also predict where future cases will be concentrated.

According to doctors, mosquito control efforts generally involve outdoor spraying that covers broad swaths of a city, but the Aedes aegypti mosquito has adapted to live inside the houses.

Dr Sudhir Krishna of the National Centre for Biological Sciences (NCBS), who has been working on research in dengue and other such infections, says that due to Covid-19, the focus on dengue has taken a back seat, but that shouldn't be the case.

"My understanding is that in the last one-and-half years, the way Covid-19 has played out, people are so obsessed with the disease that they have not paid attention to other things. There have been reports from countries like Brazil which have argued that in areas where there were zero dengue cases then, there were lower patterns of Covid-19. So, one must look into prevention of increase in dengue infections," he suggested.

Doctors feel that public health officials should ensure that more effective and efficient mosquito control measures should be taken up by identifying such hotspots so that they can control the disease even before an epidemic begins.

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

WITH Bengaluru slowly seeing an increase in dengue cases, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike has started a door-to-door survey to detect mosquito breeding sites.

ASHA workers of Urban Primary Health Centres, who have taken up the survey, have found that 25 per cent of the surveyed houses have reported mosquito breeding spots. Terming it a cause for concern, BBMP Special Commissioner (Health and IT) Randeep D said that while the corporation is making its best efforts to ensure that there are no mosquito breeding sites, people also have to take extra precautions now.

"We had been planning this for some time. Dengue cases are also rising. It is important to address dengue seriously. So we have reoriented ASHA workers, who are already burdened with Covid duties. But we have told them how important this is," Randeep told The New Indian Express.

He explained that ASHA workers have also been told to inform the public on precautions and how they should ensure there is no stagnant water both inside and around houses.

Meanwhile, Health Department officials said that ASHA workers and Health Assistants across the state have been directed to intensify routine surveillance activity in rural areas and fortnightly surveillance activity in urban areas. Municipal bodies have been asked to ensure effective disposal of solid waste to prevent mosquito breeding in peri-domestic spots.

While there have been several requests for fumigation, Randeep says the department's focus is more on identifying and reducing the source of infection. "There have been public requests for fumigation. Scientific evidence has shown that finding sources of infection will help better than fumigation. Hence, this survey will also help us in informing people that they do not have stagnant water in the houses," he added.

ASHA workers surveyed 166 houses and found 40 houses where larvae bred. In the East zone, where even the high number of dengue cases are being reported, 39 houses were found were larvae were breeding. In K G Halli area, out of 55 houses surveyed, larvae was found in 38 of them.

MCC fails to recognise Covid mitra volunteers

Mysuru: Medical and non-medical volunteers, who helped the district administration when Mysuru was witnessing a high Covid positivity rate and dearth of beds, appear to have not got the due recognition promised by authorities. The volunteers who worked tirelessly in Covid mitra centres for nearly two months when the second wave was ravaging the city said that though they took a huge risk by working in the frontline, the authorities have failed to provide them due recognition. Over 65 volunteers have worked at the Covid mitra centres set up at Panchakarma Hi-tech Hospital on KRS Road, Beedi Hospital, Seth Mohandas Tulasidas Hospital and Town planning building on Hinkal-Bogadi Ring Road. ENS

INDUSTRY 4.0 IS NOT FAR FOR INDIA

GIRISH LINGANNA

The industries have been witnessing a rapid transformation across the world, due to the Industries 4.0 — a new revolution, to which many Europeans, particularly German companies and a few American companies have already jumped the bandwagon. India-projected to emerge as the world's largest economy in a decade or two, is not far behind.

The constant change in technology has been changing the lives of human beings in everyday life. The gadgets we use right from mobile phones to computers, digital home appliances have changed the everyday life of almost each and every person, from young and the dotage, working women to home makers, businessmen to the employees where the digital technology has come handy and advantageous.

As the world connects itself with digital technology, the Industries for which adaptation and transformation is a must to survive, expand and progress is now witnessing a new industrial revolution which is better known as Industries 4.0 — a process, which mankind has never experienced before.

Understanding Industry 4.0 requires understanding of industrial revolutions — the earlier three revolutions. The first revolution used water and steam to power and mechanise productions. The second revolution used electricity to create mass production. The third revolution used electronics and information technology to ramp up production. The fourth revolution is building on the third— the digital revolution. It involves fusion of technologies derived from physical, digital and biological spheres.

The fourth one is evolving at an exponential speed, disrupting almost all the industries across the world in each and every country. This is due to the rapid innovations happening across the globe following the emergence of artificial intelligence.

With the Union Government working on a target to make the country a dollar 5 trillion economy, the focus is more on boosting Industrial production. As a first step in this regard, the Ministry for Heavy Industry has set up Samarth Udyog Bharath Platform, where a programme has been chalked out to develop technology for establishing smart factories across the country.

To realise this ambitious project, the Ministry has established the Centre for Manufacturing Technology Institute (CMTI), which is developing technology to aid smart production. Explaining about the intention of establishing the institute, Nagahanumanaiah, Director, CMTI said that the Institute has developed about 11 technologies and has conducted 34 webinars during the year 2020-21.

"In the Industry 4.0, the Industrialist must understand what is being done and what should be done. The same should be integrated with sensors and the data is acquired. It is then digitised and shared with the stakeholders. In short, Industry 4.0 comprises four terms —gathering data , prediction, digitise and sharing the technology for analysing and automation," he explained and added that the process of Industry 4.0 started in 2018 in India.

He said that the revolution is all about use of technology where to ensure smart manufacturing and the companies will inculcate steps to acquire data, digitize, ensure cyber security, cloud computing, big data analytics and robotic and other technology to enhance production, efficient management, and maintenance and complete automation by using artificial intelligence and R and D facility.

Explaining about the role of the CMTI in ushering in Industries 4.0, he said that as part of Samarth Udyog Bharath Platform 4.0, the Union Ministry for Industries has funded five Engineering facilities. " One is CMTI, another in IISc- Department of Centre for Product development, IIT Delhi and C4I4- A Private facility attached with Kirloskar and IIT Kharagpur," he said.

Comparing the Global response with India to Industries 4.0, he said that many organizations have begun the process, which is at various levels. "Even at the global platform many have adapted to Industry 4.0 at first or second level. The level 4 will be the complete automation. We have already begun the process. We are heading steadily," he said.

Industry 4.0 will lead to accumulation of unlimited knowledge due to use of mobile devices, unending storage facilities and other aspects. Coupled with rapid innovations due to readily available knowledge, the transformation will lead to a drop in transportation and communication costs and thus make the logistic and global supply chain more effective. This will also lead to drastic reduction in the cost of trade and will open new markets and drive economic growth.

K'taka Cong goes all guns blazing at Centre

Parameshwara, who was then Deputy CM, says his phones, emails may also have been under surveillance

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru, New Delhi

WITH reports emerging that the Pegasus spyware was used to destabilise the JDS-Congress coalition government in Karnataka by targeting several leaders, former Deputy Chief Minister Dr G Parameshwara has expressed "extreme pain" that his phones had been compromised. Speaking to TNIE, he said, "This is condemnable. I demand an explanation from the Government of India."

He later tweeted saying, "Every time we believe the BJP-led Union Government cannot go any lower, fresh proof arrives to show they can & will stoop to the lowest. #PegasusSnoopgate shows that BJP will do everything, including partnering with foreign powers, to gain power & topple secular governments."

Recalling how the coalition government, in which he was Deputy CM, was pulled down, he said he suspects that his phones were being monitored during that period in order to accomplish Operation Lotus. In another tweet, he said,

"This also proves that this is the same modus operandi used by BJP to come to power in Goa, Pondicherry, Manipur, Madhya Pradesh despite being rejected by the people. Brazen horse-trading and misuse of power by the BJP has led to the death of democracy in India."

Meanwhile, the Congress has demanded a Supreme Court-monitored judicial probe in the matter, saying it was a dirty game by Modi government.

Senior Congress leader Siddaramaiah, KPCC chief D K Shivakumar and Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge, who were in New Delhi, accused the Narendra Modi government of toppling the democratically elected government of Karnataka in 2019 using the Israeli spyware.

The party said that the Centre could have used the spyware to topple Congress governments in Madhya Pradesh, Arunachal Pradesh and Manipur. "Pegasus was used to tap the phones of Venkatesh, who has been my PA for the past 27 years. It was used to tap the phone of Satheesh, PA of H D Kumaraswamy, and the phone of Manjunath, the security staffer of former PM H D Deve Gowda," said Siddaramaiah.

The Congress-JD(S) government fell in 2019 with the B S Yediyurappa-led BJP government coming to power following a rebellion by 17 MLAs from the Congress and JD(S) in the state. Siddaramaiah said that in 2018, the Karnataka Assembly elections threw up a fractured mandate with the BJP winning 104 seats, Congress 80 and JDS 36 seats. As the BJP could not prove majority in the House, the Congress supported the JD(S) to keep BJP at bay.

"It was right before this time, during the horse trading, that Pegasus started snooping on our PAs' phones. This act was done by Yediyurappa and was enabled by Modi. The MLAs did not leave freely and fairly to join the BJP, but were lured using information by snooping," he alleged.

D K Shivakumar said that the party MLAs had complained that their phones are being tapped and an investigation is still going on. Kharge said that the matter will be raised in both the Houses of Parliament as Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah have tried to topple democratic institutions. "This is an authoritarian dictatorship. They should take moral responsibility and resign," he said.

Congress leader K C Venugopal said that the report clearly shows their objective was to topple the coalition government in Karnataka and must have been involved in toppling other Congress governments in MP, Manipur and Arunachal Pradesh.

Nothing new, govts have been doing it, says HDK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WHILE the opposition Congress hit out at the Centre for allegedly resorting to illegal surveillance to topple the JDS-Congress coalition government in Karnataka in 2019, JDS leader and then chief minister H D Kumaraswamy said that snooping has been done by all governments, including the Congress.

"It is a very serious issue and they should not have resorted to such means to destabilise the government," the former CM said, reacting to the Pegasus Project revelation that phone numbers of his personal secretaries and several other leaders from Karnataka were among those listed for snooping. "They may have used it to get details about weaknesses in both the Congress and the JDS. They would not have made such an attempt if we had worked unitedly," he said.

Terming it as an invasion of privacy, Kumaraswamy claimed that many government agencies tap the phones of politicians and prominent industrialists to gather information. "This is clearly an invasion of an individual's right to privacy, but it has been done for many years. Everyone knows how people in power misuse it. It has to stop and everyone needs to introspect," he said.

The former CM, who faced allegations of phone-tapping when he was in power, said that he had never resorted to such practices. He hit out at the BJP for accusing him of tapping phones while adding that they themselves resorted to such means to destabilise the coalition government headed by him.

Kumaraswamy said that he is not interested in discussing such issues and leaders from all political parties must now focus on addressing matters faced by people and provide relief.

Congress leaders seek judicial probe

"THE timing surrounding their selections as possible candidates for surveillance is crucial as, during the political power game that played out, the Congress and the JD(S) alleged that the BJP, actively backed by the Union government, was attempting to topple their coalition government by poaching their party legislators," said the report.

Congress leader Siddaramaiah said that the party will hold a nationwide 'Raj Bhavan Chalo' campaign, demanding a judicial inquiry into the scandal.

The phone numbers are part of a leaked database first accessed by a French media non-profit -Forbidden Stories that was later shared with an international media consortium as part of what is called the 'Pegasus Project'. Pegasus is military-grade cyber tool spyware that is sold by an Israeli cyber tech firm-NSO- to vetted governments and its agencies.

Surjewala on five-day tour of state to prep party for elections

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mangaluru

KARNATAKA Pradesh Congress Committee working president Saleem Ahmed on Tuesday said that AICC general secretary in charge of Karnataka, Randeep Singh Surjewala, will embark on a five-day tour of the state from Friday, to chalk out plans for the upcoming byelections to Sindhagi and Hangal Assembly seats and the taluk panchayat elections.

At a press meet, he said that Surjewala will hold a meeting with party leaders of Dakshina Kannada, Udupi, Chikkamagaluru, Hassan and Shivamoga districts in Mangaluru on Friday. The next day, he will hold a meeting in Tumakuru with leaders of Tumakuru, Kolar, Chikkaballapur, Chitradurga and Davanagere districts. On July 29 and 30, he will meet leaders of North Karnataka districts in Hubballi.

Ahmed said that the BJP-led state government should stop the "political circus" and respond to people's woes in the wake of the predicted Covid-19 third wave.

He said that the recent political developments in the state and statements of BJP leaders indicate that the party central leaders have lost their trust in Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa.

Stating that BJP leaders are predicting a mid-term poll in the state, Ahmed felt that the Congress will come to power in such a scenario. He termed the statement by Congress leader M B Patil in favour of Yediyurappa as "personal opinion" and said it has nothing to do with the party.

Claiming that the State Government is grossly under-reporting Covid deaths, he said that the Congress is conducting a death audit to expose the government. "A government website put the Covid toll at 3.27 lakh. But the information was soon removed from the website and now they say only 30,000 have died. The guidelines to get Rs 1 lakh Covid compensation is so tough that many will not get it," he added.

Rahul asks Siddu DKS to unite, seize opportunity

Bengaluru: Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee chief D K Shivakumar and Congress legislature party leader Siddaramaiah met senior party leader Rahul Gandhi in New Delhi on Tuesday. While the duo was summoned over the Pegasus Project reports, which suggested hacking of phones of people close to Congress leaders, issues of dissent within the party, factionalism denting the party's image and cadres' morale also were broached. "There is no conflict between Shivakumar and me. We are united and are building the party together. Why should there be a rift when our fight is against the corruption of BJP? We are working together to bring the party back to power," Siddaramaiah told the media in New Delhi. Both leaders interacted jointly as well as individually with Rahul, it is said, over their concerns and public statements by each other's supporters. Sources said that Rahul insisted that the leaders put aside any differences there may be and work unitedly. Given the rumblings in the BJP government, Rahul is said to have asked both leaders to seize the opportunity to bring back the Congress to power in the state. ENS

Govt revokes media ban at Soudha

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOLLOWING widespread criticism, the State Government on Tuesday withdrew its order restricting the print and electronic media from taking videos and photographs in the corridors of the Vidhana Soudha, with immediate effect.

Last Friday, an order was issued by the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms that stated that during legislature sessions and other occasions, media persons recording videos of ministers block VIP movement and also cause inconvenience to the employees. Instead, they have to shoot only near the Kengal Hanumanthaiah entrance. Despite opposition, Assembly Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri took a stand not to allow videographers and photographers.

This was not the first time that the government has tried to restrict the media. In 2018, when H D Kumaraswamy was Chief Minister, restrictions had been imposed on media persons entering the Vidhana Soudha, Vikasa Soudha and the Secretariat. However, the order was revoked after the Opposition and media slammed the government.

In 2019, the BJP government restricted recording of the Assembly session proceedings.

HENCEFORTH, all schemes that have fund allocation of more than Rs 100 crore will be evaluated, for which the Karnataka Evaluation Authority will be constituted, announced Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa.

A release from the Chief Minister's Office stated that at present, 96 schemes are funded/aided by the Centre in 24 State Government departments. In 2020-21, Rs 39,601 crore was allocated under centrally-sponsored schemes, of which Rs 18,715 crore was the Centre's share. As on date, 87 per cent of this share has been released to the State Government. In 2021-22, Rs 38,078 crore has been allotted, including Rs 17,536 crore as the Union Government's share. As of June this year, the Centre has released 23 per cent of this.

There are 11 main centrally-sponsored schemes, including MNREGA, PM Grama Sadak Yojane, Jal Jeevan Mission, midday meals, Samagra Shikshana Karnataka, Rashtriya Arogya Abhiyana and PM Awas Yojana.

After a meeting to review central government schemes, the CM said that in the last seven years, there has been an increase in the grants released by the Centre.

In 2014-15, the grants were around Rs 9,600 crore and now this has doubled. "Officials concerned should ensure that all centrally-sponsored schemes are implemented within the time limit set by the government. Officials should also ensure that grants are released on time to the state. For this, they have to submit the required documents from time to time," he said.

Yediyurappa also directed Chief Secretary P Ravikumar to work accordingly and said that every rupee released by the Centre should be utlised. "Despite monitoring, there are complaints of corruption in some places. This has to be prevented. If there are any technical issues, they have to be brought before the officials concerned," the CM said.

AMID RUMOURS, CM FOCUSES ON WORK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AMID continuing speculation over change of leadership in the state, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa appeared undaunted as he maintained his focus on his work.

On Tuesday, the CM held a video conference with Deputy Commissioners of 12 districts which witnessed heavy rainfall over the last few days and reviewed implementation of centrally-sponsored schemes.

"In the last seven years, there has been a significant increase in grants from the Centre and officials must ensure its proper utilization," the CM said.

Interacting with the DCs of Kodagu, Ballari, Hassan, Udupi, Shivamogga, Uttara Kannada, Mangaluru, Chikkamagaluru, Vijayapura, Kalaburagi, Mysuru, Koppal and Belagavi districts, Yediyurappa said funds will be released to purchase state-of-the-art equipment to prevent floods. He also directed the DCs to utilise the funds in PD accounts for flood-related expenses. The CM also stressed on forming special teams to identify low-lying and landslide-prone areas so that people can be shifted to safer places well ahead. On crop loss, the CM said it will be surveyed and action will be taken for distribution of relief.

The CM also met a delegation of religious heads at his residence and interacted with them for some time. He also gave the nod to increase the dearness allowance for state government employees and cleared a few more files.

'BSY built party from scratch'

DR SHIVAMURTHY Murugha Sharanaru of Murugha Mutt said Yediyurappa built the party from the scratch in Karnataka and losing the chief minister's chair may not be a big loss for him, instead he could gain something big. "In fact, it is a loss for BJP. The BJP high command should treat him with respect and not hurt his feelings or image," he added.

Basavamurthy Madara Channaiah Swamy of Madiga Gurupeet, Guru Mahanta Swamiji of Guru Mahanteshwara Mutt at Ilakal and Immadi Siddarameshwara Swamy of Bhovi Gurupeet also rallied behind the CM. Shivabasava Swamy of Gacchina mutt Athani, Mallikarjuna Swamy of Rudra Devaramutt at Sirsi, Basavakiran Swamy of Challakere and AJ Paramashivaiah of SJM Vidyapeet were with Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru.

In Davangere, Jagadguru Channasiddarama Panditharadhya Shivacharya Swamy of Srishyla Mutt said that all the Panchapeeta Swamijis are with the CM.

Sumalatha seeks CBI probe into KRS illegal mining

Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambareesh interacts with Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat on Tuesday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MANDYA MP Sumalatha Ambareesh on Tuesday urged the Union Government to order a CBI probe into illegal mining near the Krishnaraja Sagar (KRS) dam in Mandya district.

In a memorandum to Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, the MP said that many farmers have threatened to commit suicide due to threats from elected representatives and public officials if they approach the authorities to complain against rampant illegal mining near KRS dam.

The MP said that she received complaints about threat to the reservoir structure due to blasting using heavy explosives and tremors. "Illegal mining activity has caused air and water pollution, environmental hazards to human habitation, including repeated miscarriages and breathing difficulties," she stated.

She alleged that illegal mining is being carried out with the complicity of officials.

CM to host dinner for BJP legislators

BENGALURU: Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa will host a dinner for his party legislators in Bengaluru on Sunday, on the eve of his government completing two years in office. Sources in the Chief Minister's Office said that all the 118 BJP MLAs have been informed about the dinner. "We do not know how many will attend," the sources said. Last week, Yediyurappa was on a two-day visit to Delhi to meet the party's central leaders. ENS

Oscar Fernandes in ICU after fall at home

MANGALURU: Former Union minister and senior Congress leader Oscar Fernandes, 80, is being treated in the ICU of a private hospital after he fell in his flat at Mary Hill. Oscar's daughter Oshanie told TNIE that her father was doing his routine exercise on Monday morning when he slipped and hit his head on the wall. "It was a mild hit. After that, he went for an MRI scan, which revealed a blood clot in his brain. He is under observation," she said. ENS

Bizman files plaint against minister

Latter's media team says allegations made before the ACB are with malicious intent

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

INDUSTRIALIST Alam Pasha on Tuesday said that he has complained to the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) against Mines and Geology Minister Murugesh Nirani and associates for allegedly diverting funds meant for farmers. Nirani's media team dismissed the allegations, saying, "It was quite evident that the allegations were baseless and made with malicious intent."

Pasha said he has approached the ACB director-general of police with the complaint that crores of rupees, obtained as crop loans in the name of small farmers at 4 percent interest, are being deposited at Vijay Souharda Credit Sahakari Ltd at Mudhol, which is housed in a building owned by Nirani.

Pasha had earlier filed criminal cases against Nirani and others. On Tuesday, he alleged that the dealings are in clear violation of the Banking Regulation Act.

Nirani's media team stated, "A self-proclaimed social activist on Tuesday made frivolous charges against Mines & Geology Minister Murugesh R Nirani without any documentary evidence. The so-called activist who is notorious for filing complaints against political leaders exposed himself with his hollow claims and became a laughing stock before the media. It was quite evident that the allegations were baseless and made with malicious intent. The imposter posing as a social activist faced a barrage of questions from journalists who were visibly upset as he kept dodging questions on evidence to prove his malicious charges. All his allegations were silly, baseless and innuendos. The sole objective of the presser was to cause embarrassment and dent the image of the minister who is gaining prominence in state politics after decades of hard work."

Activist seeks action against Indrajit

BENGALURU: An activist has submitted a complaint to Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai, seeking legal action against journalist and filmmaker Indrajit Lankesh, accusing the latter of trying to create enmity between different castes, and also bringing disrepute to the police department. Abraham TJ, president of Karnataka Anti-Graft & Environmental Forum, met Bommai on Tuesday and handed over the complaint, to which the Home Minister assured of forwarding it to the police for further action. Abraham has alleged that Lankesh had repeatedly told on television that actor Darshan had assaulted a Dalit waiter at a hotel in Mysuru, but the waiter was not at all a Dalit. He further alleged that Lankesh was lowering the image of the entire police force of the state by making false and malicious allegations.

Murder in bank: Cops on lookout for killers in neighbouring states

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Koramangala police investigating the killing of rowdy sheeter Joseph Babu alias Babli, who was murdered inside a bank on Monday afternoon, has launched a massive manhunt for the accused in the neighbouring states.

Police have suspected Babli's old rival Shantinagar Naga's role in the murder. It is learnt that four persons have been detained by the police in connection with the case.

Sources said the preliminary probe had revealed that Babli was accosted by the assailants at the bank.

"Babli had come to the bank after visiting the school where his children are studying. As soon as they his vehicle in front of the bank, three persons chased him inside. In a bid to protect himself, Babli entered the branch manager's chamber and locked himself in. But the assailants smashed the glass panes and entered the chamber and attacked him with lethal weapons. They later escaped with 5-6 others waiting outside on two-wheelers," an official said.

The police have also recorded the statement of his wife Jennifer. "Investigation has revealed that Babli's old rival, Naga alias Shantinagar Naga, had planned and executed the murder. Naga had tried to finish Babli a few years ago, but the latter had survived. We are on the lookout for Naga and his close associates, Gopi, Saravana, Hyder, and others," the official added.

The police teams have camped in neighbouring states, following clues about the accused.

It is learnt that the police have detained four persons in connection with the murder but no official sources confirmed it.

Appoint IAS officers as Spl DCs for B'luru, HC tells state

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed the State Government to appoint officers belonging to the IAS cadre as Special Deputy Commissioners-I and II within a month for Bengaluru Urban District to discharge their duties as quasi judicial authorities under the provisions of the Karnataka Land Revenue Act.

The court said that the order dated November 28, 2019, appointing MK Jagadish and Basavaraj, who belong to KAS cadre, as Special Deputy Commissioners-I and II insofar as Bengaluru Urban District is concerned, is contrary to the government order dated October 10, 2014, and the order passed by the HC in 2011.

A division bench of Justice BV Nagarathna and Justice Hanchate Sanjeevkumar passed the order, while disposing a PIL by advocate Vasudeva Reddy.

In its order, the government had made provision for appointment of officers belonging to IAS cadre as Special Deputy Commissioners-I and II, to discharge their duties in Bengaluru North Sub-Division and Bengaluru South Sub-Division, respectively, in addition to Deputy Commissioner for Bengaluru District.

The duties assigned to Special Deputy Commissioners are to take up suo moto proceedings under the provisions of Section 136 (3) and 67(2), and proceedings under Section 39, 192(A) and (B) and Section 94(3) of the Karnataka Land Revenue Act, arbitration matters, all matters relating to abolition of Inam tenures under Inam Abolition Acts and Rules, rehabilitation of displaced persons under various projects, etc.

Three held for RTI activist's murder

From left: Tejas Kumar A, Pradeep Kumar and Satish TC are the suspects who have been arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THREE persons have been arrested by the police in connection with the murder of an RTI activist at Tavarekere in Ramanagara district.

The accused have been identified as Pradeep Kumar alias Pradi (33), a resident of Tavarekere town; Satish TC (20) of Manjunatha Nagar in Tavarekere; and Tejas Kumar A (22) of Yelachaguppe in Tavarekere.

The trio has been accused of chopping off the right hand and leg of Venkatesh alias Mahimaiah (43), an RTI activist, on July 15. The latter had succumbed at a hospital on Sunday.

Police said the investigation had revealed that the attack was over a financial dispute. "Pradeep Kumar, a financier, had lent Rs 10 lakh to the deceased Venkatesh, who had failed to return the money after paying a small amount of interest. When the financier forced him repeatedly to return the money, Venkatesh allegedly threatened of filing a police complaint against him. Hence, Pradeep decided to teach him a lesson and hired four others, including the two arrested, and directed them to attack Venkatesh," the police said.

"At the behest of Pradeep, four persons had attacked Venkatesh. We are on the lookout for two other accused," the police added.

SC warns Kerala of action if Covid spreads again

Court doesn't cancel govt order, calls relaxations 'wholly uncalled for' when pandemic is raging

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE & &AGENCIES @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday slammed the state government for giving relaxations in lockdown curbs for three days in view of Bakrid festival. The court did not cancel the government order as Tuesday was the final day of relaxations. But it warned the state government of stern action if the easing of restrictions leads to further spread of Covid.

Describing the relaxations granted for Bakrid in areas with a high test positivity rate 'wholly uncalled for', a division bench comprising Justice R F Nariman and B R Gavai remarked that giving in to pressure from traders disclosed a 'sorry state of affairs'.

Recalling the court's earlier judgments, the bench directed the state government to heed to the Right to Life guaranteed under Article 21 of the constitution.

The bench was hearing a petition filed by Delhi-based Keralite P K D Nambiar questioning the Bakrid relaxations in the state. Nambiar pointed out the SC' directive to Uttar Pradesh government regarding the Kanwar Yatra festival and pleaded that a similar directive should be issued for Kerala where the TPR was more than three times that in UP.

The apex court referred to a paragraph in the affidavit filed by Chief Secretary V P Joy on behalf of the state government and said it disclosed the state had given in to associations of traders, which made a representation that they had stocked up goods for the festival season. "What is extremely alarming is the fact that in Category D, where infection rates are the highest, a full day of relaxation has been granted," the court observed.

"We may also indicate that if, as a result of this, any untoward spread of Covid takes place, any member of the public may approach this court after which the court will take action accordingly," said the court which also congratulated the petitioner.

As directed by the court, the state government filed an affidavit on Monday night, saying that the curbs and resultant economic slowdown had badly affected the lives of people.

"The organisation of traders started to agitate against the stringent curbs implemented in the local self-government institutions and declared that they would open shops all over the state flouting the regulations," the affidavit said, adding that the Opposition parties had also demanded more relaxations in the curbs to give some respite to the traders and to allow some economic activities in the state.

"The chief minister held discussion with the organisations and heard their demands on July 16. The traders assured that the opening of shops will be strictly following Covid protocol and they are ready to follow the additional regulations ordered by the state, if any," it said.

As per a GO issued on July 17, textiles, footwear shops, jewellery, fancy stores, shops selling home appliances and electronic items, all types of repairing shops and shops selling essential items shall be allowed to open from July 18 to 20 from 7am to 8pm in category A, B and C areas, in view of the Bakrid festival that will be celebrated on July 21. In D category areas (where TPR is higher than 15), these shops can function only on July 19, the GO said.

In the affidavit filed, the chief secretary also said the state is vigorously vaccinating people against Covid and is expected to inoculate at least 60% of its population within two or three months. The state said it has vaccinated 45% of its 18+ population with at least one dose.

3,000 km-long Deccan aviation circuit proposed under PPP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TOURISM Minister C P Yogeeshwara said on Tuesday that soon, a Deccan aviation circuit will come up for tourists to fly across destinations.

Holding a meeting with department officials and private stakeholders, he said that the circuit, which is expected to be 3000km-long, should connect Kalaburagi, Vijayapura, Bagalkot, Ballari, Bidar and Koppal. This will be created under public private partnership (PPP) with Deccan Aviation, which will provide small airplanes and helicopters. Officials from Apollo Hospitals and Trade India Private Limited were also present for the meeting. The minister also informed that similar support is available in Maharashtra, Telangana and Andhra Pradesh.

Yogeeshwara directed the tourism department officials to acquire land from the district administrations to start the project. He also said that along with starting water sports in KRS backwaters, the heritage Venugopala Temple will also be improved and restored by Cauvery Neeravari Nigama at the cost of Rs 1,450 crore.

STUDENT WOES

REGISTER FOR PUC SUPPLEMENTARY EXAM BY JULY 30

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

STUDENTS unhappy with PUC II results will have to register for supplementary examination by July 30. The exams will be held from August 19 to September 3.

Director of Pre-University Education Snehal R said that the results for these students will be declared in 15 days, so they are not disadvantaged academically. Principals will submit the applications on SATS portal and by July 31, all documents will be submitted to the deputy director of public instruction's office.

Minister for Primary and Secondary Education S Suresh Kumar said that because KCET examination is scheduled on August 28 and 29, the PU II examination was postponed by three days. He also assured that all the who passed the PUC examinations will get a seat for graduation.

Kumar said that the higher education department is working towards increasing the number of seats to cater to the increased number of students who passed the second PUC examination. He said that Deputy Chief Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan had also given his assurance about the same.

Rural schools threaten to surrender licences if physical classes don't start

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @ Bengaluru

WHILE the education department is yet to take decision on resuming physical classes, rural schools have approached the governor regarding the issue and threatened to surrender their licences if they are not allowed to start classes.

As schools are closed for 16 months, they said that children are deprived of education. They also complained about the inequality in the education department's approach to private schools. "Students in government schools are given free books, clothes and food. However, the same facilities are not provided to students in private schools who study under RTE," they said.

The administrators also said that for years, they have requested authorities to provide mid-day meal to underprivileged students in private schools, but their pleas fell on deaf ears.

Citing the recent economic survey, Registered Unaided Private Schools Management Association (RUPSA) said that due to the pandemic, the middle class has become financially distressed.

"The education department is attracting children to government schools with mid-day meals," they said and alleged that the government is not even informing the private schools about the students' transfer.

Additionally, the schools said that several are reeling under financial crisis, and parents are not willing to pay unless physical classes start and the government is also not reimbursing the RTE amount. "We are still paying out staff salaries. Our very existence is at stake," they lamented.

2,239 students get 100 pc marks

THE Class 10 results were given 45 marks weightage, first PU marks 45 and internals 10. Students were given an additional 5 per cent on top of their first PU marks, said Primary and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar.

Meanwhile, 2,239 students in all secured a perfect score of 600 on 600. They included 18 Arts students, 292 commerce students and 1,929 Science students, said Snehal R, Director of Pre-University Education.

Dakshina Kannada has the highest number of 445 such students, followed by Bengaluru South (302), Bengaluru North (261), Udupi (149) and Hassan (104).

Toppers move on to competitive examination preparations

Bengaluru: Ashlin P Daniel, a Miranda Composite PU College student, believes that the evalution process is fair. Now, her focus is on JEE MAIN, BITSAT, NEET, and KCET. While the Class 12 marks mostly dont matter for competitive examinations, she said that she is preparing for the exams by using websites for mock tests. She was thankful to her teachers for the constant support and motivation and said that mentoring sessions helped her with an all-round development. Another topper with a perfect 600 score, Sushal R Gowda from Deeksha CFL PU College, said that he was expected less marks in Kannada. "The evaluation process in the middle of the pandemic boosted my confidence. I am preparing for NEET examination. My aim is to join IISc and pursue research," he said.

Horticulture cluster to come up at Ramanagara

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE state will have its first horticultural produce processing cluster in Ramanagara district. The cluster, which will be set up through a PPP model with an estimated investment of about Rs 500 crore, will include a mango processing unit, Deputy Chief Minister Dr C N Ashwatha Narayan, who is also the district incharge minister of Ramanagara, stated on Tuesday.

Land has been identified in Bhairapatna near Ramanagara. Of the 40 acres available, 15 acres will be used for the project. "A mango processing unit, including common facilities, will be established in about four acres and for this, the Central Government has been asked to provide Rs 10 crore under the Remunerative Approaches for Agriculture and Allied sector Rejuvenation (RAFTAAR) scheme," Ashwath Narayan informed.

In the remaining 11 acres, five horticultural produce processing units will be established. The cluster has the objective of facilitating farmers to add value to their produce and an Expression of Interest for this will be invited soon, he said. The government is expecting an estimated investment of about Rs 500 crore for this project and private players who are keen to come forward will be given a subsidy of more than 40 per cent, the Deputy CM added.

RPF returns lost church cash

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A congregation of nuns who took the Nizammuddin Express from Yelahanka railway station to Coimbatore, and ended up misplacing their luggage containing church money, received a surprise call on July 20 that their bag has been found.

They had left it behind on Platform 3 of the station when boarding their train on the night of July 15. The bag had Rs 38,000 in cash belonging to The Pentecostal Mission on Hennur Road and other valuables worth Rs 10,000.

According to D Joshua, a church member, the nuns did not know where they had misplaced the bag and had not filed a complaint too. Railway Protection Force personnel had located the bag and identified its owners based on its contents. "It was a wonderful surprise when the RPF contacted us and informed about the bag in our possession. We alerted the nuns who are still in Coimbatore. It is God's grace that we got it," he said. Assistant Sub Inspector MC Ragunath handled the case.

Pvt hospitals struggle to get vaccine supplies

PRIVATE hospitals too are struggling to get the supplies despite raising indents on the Karnataka Private Medical establishment and Co-WIN portals. At Suguna Hospital, they have been able to get Covaxin directly from the manufacturer, Bharat Biotech, but have not been able to get Covishield from the government. "We were told that July 15 was the last day to raise an indent and we did that for Covishield through CoWIN. Forget receiving the supplies, even the payment we made was not acknowledged. We tell those who are due for their second dose of Covishield to go to other centres," said Dr Ravindra R, former president of the Private Hospital and Nursing Homes Association and MD of Suguna Hospital.

There are also other reasons for fewer people getting both doses. One is that they could have turned Covid-positive after their first dose and the other is a technical issue on CoWIN, said Dr Arundhathi Chandrashekar, Mission Director, National Health Mission. "Sometimes, beneficiaries would have changed their phone numbers after the first dose or there would have been a spelling mistake in their name while registering for the first dose. In both cases, when they take their second dose, it gets recorded as the first on CoWIN. Nearly 25-30 per cent of people who are due for their second dose as per the portal have actually already taken it," she said.

Telangana demands half share of Krishna water

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

AT a time when officials of the Krishna River Management Board (KRMB) are preparing themselves to implement the gazette notification of the Jal Shakti Ministry, the Telangana government has sought 50 per cent share in Krishna river waters this year.

In a fresh letter to the KRMB, the Telangana government urged the Board to follow an ad-hoc water sharing ratio of 50:50 from this water year of 2021-22, till the Brijesh Kumar Tribunal decides on the issue, as Telangana, even after seven years of the State's formation, is going through a lot of distress due to insufficient water.

The letter, written by Irrigation Engineer-in-Chief C Muralidhar, read, "As the Tribunal awards did not make project-wise specific allocation or prepare any operation protocol for common projects, an understanding has to be forged to share the water on an ad-hoc ratio, on a year-on-year basis with AP, pending finalisation of the KWDT-2 Award".

Muralidhar recalled that in the 12th Board meeting, it was agreed to share water in the ratio of 34:66 (TS:AP) for one year, excluding minor irrigation.

RAIN CHAOS & FLOODS FLAG A LARGER, LURKING PROBLEM

Rain-related flooding has caused extensive damage throughout the country. However, it is about time we stopped accepting this weather-related chaos as part of the season's rains each year. With more than their quota of rainfall for a month received in just 2-3 days, Mumbai reported 33 deaths in house collapses and mudslides, mostly of vulnerable slums perched precariously on hilly terrain. The National Capital Region, after a long spell of arid weather, saw thunderstorms that brought 70mm of rain in a day. The worst affected was Gurugram. As the monsoon advances, the Northwest region of the country has been lashed with heavy rains, and rivers and canals have burst their banks, destroying crops and communities.

What is new this time is the rain devastation in the relatively stable climate belts of Europe. In Germany's Western state of Rhineland-Palatinate, more than 188 people were killed, mostly of riverside communities. Cars were seen hanging from trees and what were once neatly laid-out streets turned into a mass of rubble. Communities have been left stunned at the suddenness and scale of the destruction. It appears moving rain systems have got caught in a circular, stationary weather event—a cloudburst that poured billions of litres of water in a few hours over a relatively small geographical area.

In India, much of the flooding is man-made. In the big cities, the heavy concreting does not allow water to run off into natural channels. In newer cities like Gurugram, there is no concept of a storm water drainage system and even a moderately heavy shower creates water logging and miles of traffic chaos. These problems can and should be addressed at the earliest with proper municipal planning. But far more serious is climate change, where global warming has increased temperatures, triggered ice and glacier melts, and raised the levels of the oceans. As a result, various countries are alternatively seeing searing heat in summer and unusually long and stormy monsoon months. These will need serious introspection aimed at reducing deforestation and controlling the release of greenhouse gases related to the burning of fossil fuels.

TACKLING AP-T'GANA RIVER WATER DISPUTE

The recent gazette notification by the Centre bringing all the projects on the Godavari and Krishna rivers in Telangana and AP under the control of two river management boards was not only unprecedented but also a step in the right direction. The Centre invoked the provisions of the AP State Reorganisation Act, 2014, to issue this, which seems to have ruffled the Telangana government more than it did to AP. The latter has welcomed it, though with some reservations. Telangana has been opposing the move as it wanted the allocation of river water to be done first under Section 3 of the Inter-State River Water Disputes Act, 1956. Currently, Krishna water is being shared according to an ad-hoc agreement reached between the two states in 2015 that allotted 512 tmcft to AP and 299 tmcft to Telangana. Though Telangana's official reaction to the notification has not come out yet, those in the government are seething with rage and contemplating moving the Supreme Court. There are voices of dissent that it would do more harm to the two states than good because the notification set a six-month deadline for getting clearances for all the ongoing projects, which is very difficult; else, the projects would face closure.

As one of the main reasons of the Telangana movement was to get a fair share of Krishna and Godavari waters, it is understandable that the state is unhappy. There are always disputes on the utilisation of Krishna water between the two states, so the transfer of total control on the projects to the river management board would no doubt enhance its competence in the distribution. The boards too, as they have enormous power now, should guard against being unilateral and take both the states into confidence before arriving at decisions. The Centre should keep in mind that bringing the projects under the control of the boards ipso facto would not solve the problem unless it acts as a go-between in clearing the misunderstandings between the states. On their part, the states must get back to the drawing board and hammer out the irritants in an atmosphere of camaraderie and mutual trust till the water allocation is finalised by either the Brijesh Kumar Tribunal or a new one.

The centrality of the idea of capacity building of elected representatives cannot be undermined. If democracy is failing the people, elected politicians are failing democracy

WHAT IS NEEDED FOR DEMOCRACY TO DELIVER

AMIT BANDRE

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE
President, ICCR, and BJP Rajya Sabha MP

For decades, democracy as a global institution has been struggling to cope up with an acute crisis of delivery. As several research reports have suggested, democracy's lack of ability to deliver has often threatened an otherwise strong popular confidence in the idea of democracy. The key to the strategy to overcome this crisis, of course, lies in the way democracy is conducted. And obviously, the principal role in the conduct of democracy is that of elected representatives. When on the threshold of celebrating 75 years of our Independence, it is pertinent to enquire about what ails India's system of public representation.

Firstly, there are some key systemic flaws, in-built in the Westminster model that we adopted immediately after Independence. Many, like K L Munshi in the Constituent Assembly, had serious reservations about the efficacy of this model. However, for various reasons, the Westminster model was opted for. According to jurist M C Chagla, the preference for Parliamentary democracy '... was mainly due to (the fact that) before Independence we had been working through our Legislatures, both at the Centre and in the states more or less on the British model and so we were accustomed to the practices and conventions of that system'.

One of the ills of the Westminster model is the fact that an elected representative here is simultaneously accountable to his/her constituency, party and the house that he/she belongs to. This understandably creates crass confusion, facilitating flawed interpretation and leading to convenient prioritisation at times, while in reality ending up with accountability to none. More often than not, accountability to the electors, to the voters and thereby the constituency very understandably dominates. Then comes accountability to the respective houses and lastly comes the party. Post the anti-defection law of 1985, the primacy of political parties saw great decline as the decision about the validity of defection is left to the presiding officer of the house and not to the respective political party.

Regardless of the ambiguity in this arena, our representative democracy has worked fairly successfully; thanks to the contribution of the likes of Rambhau Mhalgi, a Maharashtra politician of the 70s. Three times MLA from Pune and twice MP from Thane, Mhalgi was known for adhering to high ethical standards, total commitment to his party's (BJP) ideology and complete dedication to the cause of his constituency, thereby the idea of democratic public representation. And remember, all this he did alongside his practise as an advocate, as full-time politics was a luxury to him. Recently, his birth centenary was observed where he was remembered by veteran politicians cutting across party lines as one of the ideal elected representatives of the last century.

Three things made Rambhau Mhalgi stand apart: firstly, supremely exceptional qualities in him as a public servant. He was punctuality personified. When the discussion was primarily about dealing with financial corruption, Mhalgi used to refer to 'misappropriation of time', as time any day is a resource much superior to all others. Acutely conscious of the extremely demanding nature of politics, he used to utilise his travel time between Pune and Mumbai to prepare for his Assembly debates on the way to the latter and for his court cases while coming back to the former almost every evening. More importantly, unlike many politicians today, never shy of strictly abiding by the values like transparency and accountability, he refused to give up on the front of disciplining his supporters.

> The most noteworthy of Rambhau Mhalgi's contributions was his emphasis on an institutionalised mechanism to build the capacities of politicians. ... for democracy to deliver, elected representatives must improvise their performance in every respect

Secondly, he was known for using very adroitly all legislative/parliamentary tools to raise issues of public concern. Having worked for years on opposition benches in the Assembly, he found himself on the treasury side in 1977 in the Lok Sabha. But here too, he set new standards of dexterity in using parliamentary tools without making government leaders ever feel awkward. More importantly, he raised the bar of the quality of people's representation by adopting new and innovative ways. One of the most remarkable was his practise of publishing a 'Report to the Electorate' every year. Later, many MLAs and MPs in Maharashtra from several political parties adopted this practise and continued with it for years.

However, the most noteworthy of Mhalgi's contributions was his emphasis on an institutionalised mechanism to build the capacities of elected representatives. His mentor, Pandit Deendayal Upadhyay, had realised that for an elected representative, to be electable is a must for his personal survival, but to be able to govern is important for the success of democracy. And to make that happen, Mhalgi wanted to set up a school for politicians and realise the dream of his mentor. Considering the gravity of multiple challenges before democracy, the centrality of the idea of capacity building of elected representatives cannot be undermined. This is because if democracy is failing the people, elected representatives are failing democracy. When common voters find that the representative they elect fails in understanding the complexity of issues, lacks basic skills and is incapable of finding solutions to myriad problems that they face, they start losing confidence in democracy itself. Happily, Rambhau Mhalgi's passionate follow up of the cause of training of elected representatives at various levels was later translated into reality and an institution for the same was set up in 1982 in Mumbai. Known as Rambhau Mhalgi Prabodhini, this academy is untiringly working for strengthening democracy in its own way. The essential message of Mhalgi is that for democracy to deliver, elected representatives must improvise their performance in every respect, in all possible ways!

AATMA-STUTI: A DIDACTIC TALE ON SELF-PRAISE

SRINIVAS SISTLA
Associate Professor, Department of Fine Arts, Andhra University, Visakhapatnam

In the Yaksha Prasnaha (Yaksha's Questions) of the Mahabharata of Vyasa, a Yaksha in the form of a crane asks questions to which Yudhishthira gives befitting answers after saying, "Virtuous persons never approve that one should applaud their own self." However, it is not at all uncommon to see many people indulge in self-praise. "One said, 'in this ruined village there is no one to praise me, so I praise myself'," thus goes a Telugu proverb. An idiom forbids humans from indulging in "Aatma-stuti, Para-ninda" (Self-praise and abuse of others). In the Sanskrit Panchatantra of Vishnu Sharma, The Turtle and the Swans narrates how fatal it would be if one indulges in self-praise, even when a situation demands it.

A turtle and two swans become friends in a pond, which gets dry. The birds plan to migrate to another pond, but feel sorry for their friend who cannot fly. The turtle proposes an idea in which the birds hold a stick in their beaks, and the turtle holds it with its mouth and flies along the birds. Before doing so, the birds warn the turtle not to open its mouth for any reason until they reach another pond. During the flight, the turtle hears someone on the ground say, "What an idea of the swans in carrying the turtle to another place." This enrages the turtle, which tries to say, "It's my idea," falls on the ground and dies instantly.

The Buddhist Kacchapa Jataka in Pali tells an altered version of the tale in which en route from the Himalayas, the turtle falls on the earth and dies at Benares when it was ruled by the over-talkative King Brahmadatta. His advisor, a Bodhisattva or the Buddha in one of the previous births, says, "O king, they that have the limitless tongue would encounter such a misfortune as this," and the king learns a lesson.

The swans-turtle tale was also narrated in the Sanskrit Hitopadesa and Somadeva's Katha Sarit Sagara, which were translated into English. To Edwin Arnold's English rendering of the former text, Gordon Browne had done an illustration in which the swans and the turtle in the sky were portrayed life-like and the landscape in the backdrop naturalistically, which were typical features of Western art. Though many woodcut prints were produced on the theme from the Renaissance onwards, to the best of my knowledge, no well-known artists like Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo and Albrecht Durer, to name a few, had done works based on such popular fables.

In India, as C S Patil had pointed out, at least 39 ancient temples and sites contain reliefs that cover tales from the Panchatantra. I discuss here two reliefs that I photographed decades ago; but to the best of my knowledge, both have not received any attention earlier from scholars on the topic. Sri Bhimeswara Temple at Draksharamam (East Godavari district, Andhra Pradesh), which was constructed by the Eastern Chalukya King, Bhima I (r. 892-921 CE), displays an executively carved panel with a pair of swans and a turtle between them. The swans seem to be holding a stick together in their beaks vertically, which is very unique, for all other works on the theme show the birds holding the stick horizontally. The birds appear to be still on the ground and are about to lift up the turtle, which had grabbed one end of the stick with its mouth. Such a visualization of the theme is rare and, as far as I know, not seen anywhere else. Panugallu (Nalgonda, Telangana) houses Sri Chaya Someswara and Sri Pachala Someswara temples. A portion of the former temple had been dismantled decades ago by concerned authorities with an intention to restore the same. The pull apart sculptures on the ground cover many incidences of the fable. A broken piece shows the pair of swans carrying a stick and the turtle; and, to suggest that the incident is taking place in the sky, the artist(s) had also included a small bird in flight right below the main subject. They had also included a man and another swan on either side of the central panel. The man, in my opinion, most likely represents the one on the ground who remarks about the intelligent idea of the swans.

The fable was translated into Pahlavi, Arabic and Persian, and many manuscripts of them contain picturesque illustrations. A few medieval printed editions of the story in Italian, German, French, English and other European languages also contain woodcut prints. The print in a German edition (1484) shows two additional turtles that came out of the dry pond and are looking, perhaps with astonishment, at the birds carrying the turtle on a stick into the sky. In Italian Tales of Bidpai and in its earliest translation into English (1570) by Thomas North, the same print was used. It shows the main scene taking place up in the sky and close to a castle on a nearby mountain ranges. The artist(s) had also incorporated many other birds, each one gliding in different directions. These gliding birds, in my opinion, clearly hint at the kinetic nature of the central scene. Thus, the artist(s) who visualised the tale, across the world, had added a new dimension to the theme by incorporating various other forms and figures in the visual.

The Pegasus storm

The Pegasus snooping row has triggered a political storm with the opposition and the BJP going hammer and tongs at each other. It has emerged that Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, former election commissioner Ashok Lavasa, TMC general secretary Abhiske Banerjee and two Union ministers were allegedly on the potential target list. The ruling dispensation would do well to come clean and absolve itself of all charges.
N J Ravi Chander, Bengaluru

Centre's defence weak

The Pegasus row has caught the Centre on the wrong foot. Its defence so far has been weak and unconvincing. Agreeing to a parliamentary probe or independent judicial inquiry is the only option left for the government to prove its credibility to the people.
Kurian Mathew, Kochi

Invasion of privacy

If Pegasus-based surveillance is indeed being done by our government, it is a betrayal of the constitutional rights of citizens and a cyber attack against them. It is an invasion of privacy, liberty and dignity to those who have been targeted. There should be an independent judicial or Parliamentary inquiry to find out the truth behind these accusations.
Eappen Elias, Thiruvananthapuram

Do what must be done

This is with reference to India burns: Air pollution & how to control it (Jul 20). The article is quite thought-provoking. It is a warning to each and every individual to do what is needed to reduce air pollution and avoid what is not.
S Chockalingam, Kottaram

Become part of our culture

This is with reference to A rose from history finds rebirth in Nehru (Jul 20). Though a rose is neither sacred nor Indian, it has become a part and parcel of our culture after the advent of the Mughals. They showed enormous love for the flower as a symbol of love, divinity and humanism. The quote, "Light is good in whatsoever lamp it is burning; a rose is beautiful in whatever garden it may bloom," is well-suited in this context.
R Pichumani, Kumbakonam

Not a rare occurrence

Incidents like a `100-crore fraud at a cooperative society bank in Irinjalakuda is not rare in Kerala, where such swindlings are oft repeated. Local chieftains of influential political parties treat the cooperative sector as their fiefdom. There is thus small wonder that politicians of different hues started reacting badly to the Centre's announcement of a new ministry to oversee and streamline the cooperative sector across the country.
A Raveendranath, Aranmula

Sincerity not appreciated

It is tragic to note that the good service entry awarded to Kerala Under Secretary Salini O G was cancelled simply because she gave the correct information regarding the felling of trees in response to an RTI request. Due to such behaviour by the government, officials may think twice before giving out the right information in future and the RTI Act may become superfluous. It seems that sincere government servants are not appreciated even in a democratic setup.

Modi slams 'irresponsible' Cong for Parl disruptions

PM Narendra Modi (centre) and other BJP MPs at Parliament on Tuesday | PTI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

IN an indication that it's going to be an all-out war between the government and the opposition during the monsoon session this time, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday tore into the Congress, accusing it of indulging in "irresponsible behaviour" in Parliament.

Addressing the first weekly meeting of BJP Parliamentary Party, the PM asked party MPs to be combative in dealing with an aggressive opposition that has closed ranks to put the government on the mat over a host of issues, including the Pegasus snooping controversy and the Covid-19 management.

While the government had shown readiness to discuss any issue, the Congress, stricken by a negative mindset, was resorting to disruptions, he said. The Grand Old Party was in a 'coma' and unable to come to terms with the BJP's rise to power, he asserted.

Briefing reporters about the details of the meeting, Union Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi said the PM expressed concern over the attitude of the opposition, particularly the Congress.

Joshi reiterated that the Opposition was free to raise any issue in Parliament and the government was ready to discuss it, including the snooping case, but the parliamentary procedure to raise an issue should be followed.

Under fire from the opposition on his government's Covid-19 management, Modi said the crisis was not a political but a humanitarian issue. When a pandemic of such scale had struck 100 years ago, people died of hunger. But this time, the government had ensured that nobody went hungry, the PM said. The government ensured free distribution of foodgrains to about 80 crore people during the pandemic. The PM also called upon party MPs to support the ongoing Covid-19 vaccination drive.

No Census of castes other than SC and ST, says Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Central government has decided against enumerating caste-wise population other than Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in the upcoming Census, despite requests from the state governments of Maharashtra and Odisha for the same. The decision has been taken as a matter of policy, the government informed the Lok Sabha on Tuesday.

"The state governments of Maharashtra and Odisha have requested to collect caste details in the forthcoming Census. The government of India has decided as a matter of policy not to enumerate caste-wise population other than Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in the Census," Union Minister of State for Home Nityanand Rai stated in a reply.

The BJP MP was responding to questions posed by party colleague Raksha Khadse, who asked whether the government proposes for the first time to enumerate the population based on socio-economic and caste status during the proposed Census of India in 2021.

Rai said that according to the provisions of the Constitution, seats are reserved for SCs and STs in Lok Sabha and in the Assemblies in proportion, as nearly as may be, to their population. The minister added that in the Census, the castes and tribes which are specifically notified as Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes as per the Constitution (Scheduled Castes) Order 1950 and the Constitution (Scheduled Tribes) Order, 1950 (as amended from time to time) are enumerated.

Replying to another question in the house, Rai said the intent of the government for conducting a Census in 2021 had been notified in the Gazette of India on March 28, 2019, but due to the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic, Census activities were postponed.

According to the last Census of India conducted in 2011, Scheduled Castes constituted about 16.6 per cent of the country's population. In the case of Shceduled Tribes, this figure was 8.6 per cent.

ACTIVISTS, TOO, ON PEGASUS SNOOP LIST

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AN international collaboration of journalists on Tuesday revealed a list of names of activists and anti-caste leaders, including former JNU students Umar Khalid and Anirban Bhattacharya, who were potential targets of the Israeli spyware Pegasus.

Activists like Ashok Bharti, academic and chronicler of life in Naxal-dominated regions Bela Bhatia, railway union leader Shiv Gopal Mishra, labour rights activist Anjani Kumar, anti-coal mining activist Alok Shukla, Delhi University professor Saroj Giri and others' phone numbers were on the list of potential targets, an online news portal said. The spyware is owned by Israeli company NSO Group, which said it provides the technology only to 'vetted governments'. A list of almost 1,000 Indians was obtained by Amnesty International and the Paris-based Forbidden Stories, through a leak.

On Monday, the portal claimed phones of politicians Rahul Gandhi, IT Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw and others were potential targets. It added that upon technical analysis, it was found election strategist Prashant Kishor's phone was infected with the spyware.

67.6 % of Indians above 6 have Covid antibody in ICMR survey

Sero positivity highest in 45-59 group; ray of hope in figures but no room for complacency

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

THE latest round of national serosurvey, carried out by the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) to gauge the real extent of Covid-19 infection in India, has revealed that 67.6% of the population above the age of six has been exposed to the virus.

Extrapolated against the actual population of about 135 crore in India, it means over 90 crore Indians — or every two in three — may have already been infected with SARS CoV 2. It also means nearly 40-45 crore may still be vulnerable to the disease. Considering that about 3 crore Covid-19 cases were detected by early July, the survey shows that for every confirmed case, nearly 30 infections were missed.

The sero surveillance carried out in the last 10 days of June and the first week of July in 70 districts across 21 states from nearly 29,000 samples has shown that the highest seropositivity or antibodies against SARS CoV 2 — 77.6% — was found in the 45-59 age group.

Figures presented by ICMR director general Balram Bhargava on Tuesday also showed that seroprevalence in urban areas, at 69.6%, was slightly higher than 66.7 % of people in rural areas with antibodies.

Compared to the first national sero survey in June, 2020, when overall seropositivity had been detected in less than 1% of the population, the jump in a year is significant. The last national serosurvey by ICMR from December, 2020 to January, 2021 had shown that 24.1% people in India had antibodies. "There is a ray of hope but no room for complacency," said Bhargava.

The findings also suggested that over half of the children between 6 and 17 years were seropositive. Also, 85% healthcare workers had antibodies, but one-tenth of them are still unvaccinated.

GThe survey included those vaccinated with one or two doses. The project found that out of 12,607 adults without vaccination, 62.3% were found to have antibodies as against 81% with one dose and 89.8% of those with two doses.

Authorities also stressed the need of state and hyperlocal sero surveillance exercises whose findings should be used for driving the pandemic response in every area. "State-led sentinel sero-surveillance will inform further state-level action and state heterogeneity indicates possibility of future waves of infection," said Bhargava.

He also emphasised that societal, public, religious and political congregations should be avoided and only essential travel should be taken by those fully vaccinated.

Some experts, meanwhile, said that these results also indicate that a third nationwide Covid wave may be highly unlikely unless there is a new mutant with immune escape properties and increased virulence.

States reported no death due to lack of oxygen, Centre tells RS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

NO state or Union Territory had reported any death due to oxygen shortage during the second wave of Covid-19 pandemic, the Centre on Tuesday informed the Rajya Sabha.

In response to an unstarred question by Congress MP K C Venugopal if a large number of patients died on roads and hospitals due to acute shortage of oxygen, Minister of State for Health Bharati Pravin Pawar said although health is a state subject, all states report cases and deaths to the ministry on a regular basis, as per detailed guidelines for reporting deaths. "No deaths due to lack of oxygen have been specifically reported by states/ UTs," said the minister in her written response.

However, the government admitted that due to the unprecedented surge in demand of medical oxygen during the second wave, it had to step in to facilitate equitable distribution to the states. The demand during the second wave peaked to nearly 9,000 MT as compared to 3,095 MT during the first wave.

The ministry stressed that the Centre supported the states and undertook a series of actions, including provisioning oxygen and other consumables to ensure clinical care of Covid-19.

Venugopal, at a press conference later, charged the government with "misleading" Parliament. "The government has given a reply that nobody in the country died due to oxygen shortage. In every state we saw how many patients died due to lack of oxygen. The minister misguided and misled the House by giving false information. We will move a privilege motion against her," the Congress leader said, and described the minister's statement as "condemnable".

'Pegasus is a national security issue'

"DISCUSSION in Rajya Sabha was agreed upon under special circumstances keeping in mind the importance of the matter. Non-participation would have been projected as the Opposition being unsympathetic to people who have suffered due to the pandemic," said a senior Congress leader.

Also, when the Business Advisory Committee meeting convened by Rajya Sabha Chairman M Venkaiah Naidu agreed to take up the Covid debate, the expose on the possible destabilisation of the Kumaraswamy government had not been revealed, the leader said.

"We will not allow Rajya Sabha and Lok Sabha to function till the Pegasus issue is discussed in the House. Today is different as Rajya Sabha took up discussion on Covid-19 as the Centre does politics on the issue. Pegasus is the Number 1 issue and it is a national security issue, so no compromise on that," said Derek O'Brien, Trinamool's Rajya Sabha floor leader. He said the repeal of three farm laws is also topmost on the party's priority list, adding they would continue pressing it in Parliament.

Manipur gets two weeks to respond to plea on compensating activist

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday told the Manipur government to respond to a compensation plea filed by activist Leichongbam Erendra's father. Leichongbam, who was detained for two months under the National Security Act (NSA) for Facebook posts questioning the efficacy of cow dung and urine as a cure for COVID-19, was released on Monday.

> It is a shocking instance of misuse of preventive detention law to stifle an innocuous speech that is fully constitutionally protected and made in public interest
>
> Plea by activist's father

A Bench of Justices DY Chandrachud and MR Shah told Solicitor General Tushar Mehta that it was a serious issue, as someone had lost his liberty since May and the petitioners have prayed for grant of compensation to Erendro for his detention. The bench said it was issuing a notice to the state government. It posted the matter for further hearing after two weeks.

Mehta said the state government had not defended the plea for Erendra's release and therefore the matter should be allowed to rest here. He added that the case was brought to light three months ago. As soon as the state government had noticed the fact, the charges were revoked, he added.

Advocate Shadan Farasat, appearing for Erendro's father, said his prayer was for compensation, as five cases were cited against the activist and no chargesheet was filed in any.

"We issue notice on the compensation aspect and you (Mehta) can file a reply on this aspect," the court said.

Mehta said the state will have to satisfy the order on merit and this could have been avoided by a pragmatic approach. However, Farasat said responsibility had to be fixed for the 'illegal detention' since May 17. Erendro was released on Monday evening following the Supreme Court direction to Imphal jail authorities, saying that he cannot be in jail even for a day.

The top court had said, "Having prima facie considered the contents of the petition, we are of the view that the continued detention of the petitioner before this court would amount to a violation of the right to life and personal liberty."

US lowers risk of travel to India

New Delhi: The US has lowered the risk for travellers to India in its latest advisory from Level 4 to Level 3. Level 4 does not allow travel. Level 3 urges travellers to reconsider plans. "Reconsider travel to India due to COVID-19 . Exercise increased caution due to crime and terrorism," the US State Department said.

SC no to delay in CLAT exam

New Delhi: The Supreme Court ruled against postponing the Common Law Admission Test and said authorities should ensure all safety measures are taken. The exam is scheduled to be held from 2 pm to 4 pm on July 23. The court also said authorities should not insist on vaccination certificates from students appearing in the exam.

PM calls for team spirit, Cong & SAD skip meet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday told the floor leaders of political parties in Parliament it's a matter of concern that a significant number of healthcare and frontline workers in some states haven't yet been vaccinated. Calling for team spirit, he stressed that the pandemic isn't a matter of politics.

Floor leaders of political parties pressed for an early acceptance of Covaxin by world bodies along with accelerating the vaccination drive in the country. The PM said states needed to be more proactive in the light of fears of a third wave.

The Ministry of Parliamentary Affairs in a statement said that the PM interacted with floor leaders of all parties of both Houses to keep them informed of the trajectory of the pandemic. "Prime Minister thanked all leaders for giving practical inputs and suggestions in policy design (to deal with the pandemic)," added the statement.

The all-party meeting was boycotted by Congress, Left and Shiromani Akali Dal. Other parties, including Trinamool Congress, DMK, Shiv Sena, JD (U), attended the meeting. The floor leaders were given presentations by senior officials of the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare about the measures being taken by the government to deal with the possibility of a third wave, including installation of one oxygen plant in every district. "The PM informed leaders about the rising speed of India's vaccination programme and how the first 10 crore doses took around 85 days, while the last 10 crore took 24 days," said the ministry statement.

Primary first when schools reopen, suggest government officials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/Bengaluru

TOP government officials on Tuesday suggested that primary schools can open first in districts reporting less than 5% Covid-19 positivity rates. It was also recommended that full vaccination of teachers and all support staff in schools should be ensured before schools reopen.

Schools in India have been shut since March, 2020. While physical classes for XI and above began last year in a few states when cases started declining, they were again shut and shifted to online mode due to the second wave. "We know clearly that children can handle viral infections much better than adults as they have less ACE receptor cells which the virus uses to invade the body," said ICMR director general Balram Bhargava on Tuesday.

> Once India starts considering opening of schools, it will be wise to open primary schools before secondary schools. All support staff — school bus drivers, teachers and others — need to be vaccinated
>
> Balram Bhargava, ICMR

Referring to findings of the latest round of national sero survey which showed 57.2% kids in the 6-10 age group and 66.7% in the 10-17 age group had antibodies against SARS CoV 2, Bhargava said antibody exposure in children is not very different from adults.

He pointed out that some Scandinavian countries didn't shut primary schools. "Once India starts considering (opening of schools), it'll be wise to open primary schools first before secondary schools. All support staff — school bus drivers, teachers and others — need to be vaccinated."

His remarks come on a day AIIMS director Randeep Guleria too advocated staggered reopening of schools. Speaking to a portal, Guleria suggested schools can be reopened in places where cases are falling and positivity rates are less than 5%.

Dr Niranjan Aradhya, Senior Fellow, Centre for Child and the Law at NLSIU Bengaluru, said there is evidence that it is safe to open schools. "If states can open theatres, then why aren't they considering schools. Positivity rate has reduced. ICMR's survey has shown that children across the country have developed almost the same antibody levels as adults."

A 13-member expert committee headed by noted cardiologist Devi Prasad Shetty set up by the Karnataka government for prevention and management of the third wave had also in it's interim report recommended reopening of schools and colleges in a phased manner.

UP Cabinet may induct 10 new faces by August

Sources say list of probables sent to Delhi; Jitin Prasada likely to get MLC nomination

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Lucknow

THE recent reshuffle in the Union Cabinet has renewed the buzz on a similar exercise being on the cards in Uttar Pradesh. Though speculations of an expansion in the Yogi Adityanath Cabinet have been rife for the past few months, sources claimed this time around the state unit has already sent a list of around 8-10 probable candidates to the leadership. Once the brass approves, the expansion may happen by July-end or August first week.

Sources said that caste arithmetic has been worked out to accommodate non-Yadav OBC, non-Jatav SC and upper castes, which had helped BJP come to power in 2017.

Allies, particularly Apna Dal (S) and NISHAD Party representing non-Yadav OBC segment, are likely to get their slice in the expanded council of ministers, sources said. With the crucial Assembly election only a few months away, accommodating allies in the Cabinet is aimed at keeping the flock together.

Presently, the state has 54 ministers, including Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, which means there is a scope for the induction of at least six new ministers to stay within the constitutional ceiling of 60. Add to that the possibility of some non-performing ministers being dropped in the wake of a dismal show in the recent local body election, the list may increase by two-four berths, sources said.

The list sent to the leadership was finalised after the recent co-ordination meeting between senior RSS functionaries and state BJP leaders in Lucknow, sources pointed out.

If the rejig happens, it would be the second one in four years and the last one before the next year's election.

Meanwhile, buzz was strong on former Union minister and two-time former Congress MP Jitin Prasada getting an MLC nomination. Of the four vacancies in nominated MLC category in the state, one is likely to be filled by Prasada.

According to sources, two of the four nominations could be of upper caste individuals, while the rest would be filled by OBC and SC segments.

BJP workers held for faking attack on selves

Srinagar: Two BJP workers and their two personal security guards have been arrested for allegedly faking a militant attack in Jammu and Kashmir's Kupwara district last week, officials said on Tuesday. BJP workers Ishfaq Mir and Basharat Ahmad, and the guards were arrested on Monday, they said. The BJP workers, in connivance with the guards, faked the attack on Friday night at Gulgam in Kupwara to get enhanced security, the officials said. Mir, son of BJP district president Mohammad Shafi Mir, sustained injuries to the arm. After a preliminary probe, police had said that Mir was injured in accidental firing by a security guard.

14 counselled against joining terror groups

Srinagar: In an effort to bring misguided youth back into the mainstream, police in Jammu and Kashmir's Anantnag district held a counselling-cum-interaction session with 14 delinquent young people to prevent from joining terror groups. An investigation found 14 people in the age group of 18 to 22 were in constant touch with various local terrorists over social media and were being lured by Pakistan-based ultras, a police spokesperson said on Tuesday. "Police held a counselling session with them so as to prevent them from falling prey to pro-terrorism and anti-national propaganda. They were later handed over to their parents," he said.

VILLAGE PRAYS AS SHOOTER TAKES AIM

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

KNOWN in childhood for his accuracy with a sling while aiming at fruits in trees, Aishwarya Pratap Singh Tomar has come a long way. The 20-year-old is going to the Olympics as a part of the Indian shooting contingent.

Playing with other children in the village and showing off his talent with the sling was fun, although life in Ratanpur in Khargone district of Madhya Pradesh is anything but. About 125 kms from Indore, the village has a primary health centre which does not have a doctor.

Aishwarya Pratap Singh Tomar

Pregnant women travel several kilometres for delivery. Even that is hazardous because of the condition of the road, which becomes worse during monsoon. The village of over 2,000 inhabitants has four borewells. Locals claim that on an average, three of these malfunction at peak summer, forcing them to walk to another village for water.

As Tomar heads for the Asaka Shooting Range in Tokyo, villagers of Ratanpur are hoping he wins a medal. They believe the shooter's success will bring their village in national limelight and their living conditions will improve. He is the youngest of three children and the only son in a family of farmers.

"The entire village, particularly youngsters, are waiting for the Olympics, probably more than a cricket World Cup final featuring India. A good performance by Aishwarya will bring our village into prominence and hopefully, authorities will pay heed to our problems," said Narendra Singh Gaur, a farmer and resident of Ratanpur.

Nitiraj Tomar, the shooter's uncle, informs that in the late 90s the village got a primary health centre with one doctor. After a few years, the doctor was shifted to a community health centre in Jhirniya block, around 5 kms from the village.

"Only an Auxiliary Nurse Midwife and a dresser run the health centre in our village. We often travel to Jhirniya for diagnosis of ailments," he said.

But because the health centre in Jhirniya doesn't have a lady doctor, pregnant women often travel to other places. "They are forced either to travel 70 km to the Khargone district hospital or 45 km to the Khandwa district hospital. But travelling to Khandwa is fraught with hazards because a 10 km stretch is not exactly a road. It's hell during monsoon," lamented the shooter's uncle.

According to the first-time Olympian's distant relative Vijay Tomar, there have been incidents when the condition of patients deteriorated on way to Khandwa due to the bad state of the road. "Residents of our village and the neighbourhood raised the issue with authorities, but a solution eludes us. A few years back, that particular stretch was repaired, but it was soon back to what it was."

PODIUM TO BETTER LIFE PART-3

Village sarpanch Janki Bai Rawat's husband Veer Bahadur Rawat (who actually operates as sarpanch) denied there is scarcity of water, but admitted there are other problems. "We've raised the issues of the bad road and the village health centre not having a doctor with local Congress MLA Jhuma Solanki and BJP MP from Khandwa, Nandkumar Singh Chauhan (who died of Covid-19 in March), but they remain unaddressed. We've been told that the doctor will remain attached to Jhirniya," he said. Incidentally, Rawat doesn't know about Tomar and what he is up to. "There is a promising sportsperson from our village, but I don't know his name or which sport he is into."

Amid all this, villagers are ready to pray for their star. It is said that almost all Indian shooters are capable of doing well on their day and Tomar had shot gold in the 50m rifle three position event at the World Cup in Delhi earlier this year. He had also bagged silver in 10m air rifle with the men's team and bronze in 50m rifle three position and mixed team at the same competition.

Cong likely to drop 30 MLAs in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

AFTER appointing Navjot Singh Sidhu as the president of Punjab Congress, the high command is likely to heed the advice of poll strategist Prashant Kishor and rejig party's line-up of prospective MLAs, bringing in new faces and even shifting some from their present constituencies, for the next year's Assembly election.

This rejig, at the expense of veterans, is purportedly aimed at neutralising the anti-incumbency factor in light of an internal survey, which indicated a dip in Chief Minister Amarinder Singh's popularity.

No sooner had the reports of the high command planning to deny tickets to around 30 sitting MLAs surfaced than several MLAs began questioning the rationale, claiming the internal survey was not a barometer of their popularity.

Meanwhile, Sidhu continued his outreach and obeisance drive, reaching the village of freedom fighter Bhagat Singh at Khatkar Kalan and launching his 'fight for truth and rights' (haq ate sach di ladai).

He was accompanied by working president Kuljit Nagra and six MLAs, besides the Punjab Youth Congress president.

Addressing a gathering of farmers at the memorial, Sidhu said: "I have come here to seek the directions from the land of the martyr. I wish all Punjabis take strength from Bhagat Singh and set out on a fight for truth and rights.

However, Sidhu received mixed response from the crowd, with some hailing and others deriding him.

While Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot and Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel congratulated Sidhu, Punjab minister and senior congress leader Brahm Mahindra was guarded in his response.

Though welcoming of Sidhu's elevation, Mahindra ruled out a personal meeting with him until he resolved the issues with Amarinder Singh.

The suspense over a possible truce between Sidhu and Singh continues as there has been no reaction from the chief minister over the Amritsar East MLA's elevation to the post of Punjab Congress chief. Amarinder has neither greeted the new PCC president nor expressed any desire to meet him. However, Sidhu is into an outreach overdrive, meeting several ministers and legislators to mobilise support.

Gang-rape victim denied treatment in Meghalaya

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR
@Guwahati

THE police in Meghalaya's South Garo Hills district are moving a court against a doctor for denying treatment to a minor gang-rape victim citing jurisdictional issues.

The action of the doctor forced the 14-year-old girl to travel 75 km for treatment in another hospital. The police said they were taking up the matter with the government as well as a court.

"There are two aspects to it. One is the administrative decision. So, we are taking up the matter with the government. The second is the legal aspect. As such, we are moving the court. If the court says the doctor's action is a cognisable offence, we will register a case (against him)," South Garo Hills Superintendent of Police, Rituraj Ravi S told this newspaper.

He said the girl was in shock although physically fine. The police arrested all the four accused, he added.

Following the incident at Nongalbibra in South Garo Hills, the victim was rescued by the police and taken to the government-run Civil Hospital at Williamnagar in East Garo Hills district. The doctor there refused treatment on the grounds that the crime was committed in another district.

Girls preferred over boys for adoption in Bihar

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @Patna

ABANDONED by her parents, two-year-old Pakhi Kumari was brought up at the Specialised Adoption Institute in Muzaffarpur district of Bihar. She was adopted by a childless couple from West Bengal, Reena and Sudipta Pal, on June 10.

A couple of days ago, a childless couple from the US reached Madhubani and adopted a 2-year-old abandoned girl, Kavya, in the presence of the district magistrate.

These adoptions show a trend: more and more childless couples prefer a girl child from the state's various Specialized Adoption Agencies (SSAs), run by the Social Welfare Department or NGOs.

The adoption of male children, abandoned by their biological parents in Bihar, has also increased in recent years. Recently, a couple arrived from Italy and adopted a male child from Muzaffarpur-based SAA.

In Saharsa, at least 51 kids — both male and female — were facilitated for in-country and overseas adoptions. Director of Social Welfare Department Raj Kumar said there has been a rise in demand for girl children for adoption because of a change in the people's mindset.

"Counseling has also made an impact. Prospective parents are registering with choices for kids for adoption on the CERA portal and coming ahead for adopting from Bihar's various adoption centres," said Raj Kumar.

According to social welfare department figures, 210 abandoned children, including 148 females, were adopted in 2018-19 of which 171 were adopted by the in-country and 39 by overseas couples from Bihar.

In 2019-20, out of 120 kids adopted, 82 were female.

Rahul nod to go it alone for Maha local body polls

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI

MAHARASHTRA Congress president Nana Patole on Tuesday said former party president Rahul Gandhi had given the green light for the party to contest the upcoming local body and other elections on its own. Making it clear that the decision would not affect the current Maha Vikas Aghadi coalition, Patole said Congress would not form any alliance for future elections.

A confidante of Rahul Gandhi, Patole said, "We had a very good meeting with Rahul Gandhi (in Delhi). We discussed various issues to strengthen the party and decided that though the Congress will remain with the MVA in Maharashtra, it will contest upcoming elections on its own."

Patole had consistently said Congress would go it alone in future elections, a statement played down by his party leaders on many occasions.

Assam hosp to get 100 beds from Yuvraj foundation

The Assam Medical College and Hospital will get 100 ICU beds from the Yuvraj Singh Foundation. The Dibrugarh-based AMCH had signed an MoU with the foundation for setting up a 100-bed pediatric ICU. The foundation is funded by cricketer Yuvraj Singh. It will provide the beds in two installments of 50 each, AMCH Principal-cum-Chief Superintendent Sanjeeb Kakati said. He said 20 beds would have ventilator. From April 1 to June 26 this year, 34,606 children (up to 18 years) were infected by Covid in Assam. Thirty-four of them had died.

Sarma government incentivises sports achievements

Sportspersons in the state may have a reason to aim for excellence. The government has decided to recruit them if they excel at national level. Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said not just those winning medals at the Olympics or the Commonwealth Games, even those who win a medal representing the state at the national level will also get government jobs. The government said sportspersons, who had represented the state in the past and won medals, would be provided with a monthly pension of `10,000. Earlier this year, ace athlete Hima Das was appointed as a Deputy Superintendent of Police. She is the first Indian athlete to win a gold medal in a track event at IAAF World Under-20 championships.

Altogether 1,338 students received their degrees during the 23rd convocation of IIT, Guwahati, which was held online. The list includes four who received joint degrees with Gifu University, Japan. The graduates included 649 B.Tech and B.Des students, 175 PhD students and 518 Master degree students. Delivering the Convocation address, Infosys founder NR Narayana Murthy said, "The only instrument you have to remember is performance; performance leads to recognition and recognition leads to respect."

Drinkers await promised home delivery of liquor

With movement curtailed due to Covid-induced curfew, the drinkers in the city are eagerly awaiting home delivery of liquor. Recently, the Cabinet allowed liquor's online sale, purchase and home delivery in the city for a month on a trial basis. However, the same has not been implemented yet. The drinkers are not happy. "We welcome the government's decision on liquor's online sale, purchase and home delivery. We urge the government to implement it as early as possible. Once implemented, it will help us consume it without taking any Covid risk," a drinker said requesting anonymity. Recently, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma had said Covid was spreading in some parts from liquor joints.

China: US ganging up with allies to make groundless hacking charges

Says NATO making cyberspace the new battlefield under United States' encouragement

BEIJING

CHINA on Tuesday accused the US of "ganging up" with allies to make groundless allegations against it for carrying out a global cyber hacking campaign and asked Washington not to throw "dirty water" at it with such accusations.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian, reacting to the US and NATO allegation of China carrying out a global campaign of hacking, alleged that "under the US encouragement, NATO has made cyberspace the new battlefield" which may in turn fuel the cyber arms race.

"The US has ganged up with allies and launched unwarranted accusations against China on Cyber security," Zhao said.

March cyber attack
The Biden administration had on Monday accused Beijing of carrying out the March cyber attack on Microsoft Exchange, and charged four Chinese nationals over the "malicious" hack

The United States on Monday accused Beijing of carrying out the March cyber attack on Microsoft Exchange, a top email server for corporations around the world, and charged four Chinese nationals over the "malicious" hack. US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said the attack was part of a "pattern of irresponsible, disruptive and destabilizing behavior in cyberspace". An unprecedented group of allies and partners, including the EU, the UK, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, Japan and NATO joined the US on Monday in criticising the Chinese Ministry of State Security's malicious cyber activities.

White House Press Secretary Jen Psaki told reporters on Monday that it was the first-time NATO has condemned China's cyber activities. The united front cobbled by the US has riled China.

Zhao said the allegation was "made out of thin air and mix right with wrong". It is purely aimed at smearing China out of political motives, he said. "China will never accept this and will firmly oppose and combat any form of cyber-attacks. Still less we encourage or condone any cyber-attacks," Zhao said. He also launched a broadside against NATO, saying that the US-led military alliance has made cyberspace a new battlefield. " If NATO truly cares about national security, it should act as it speaks about defending peace in cyberspace instead of preparing for war in cyberspace," he said. Agencies

Afghan envoy's daughter wasn't kidnapped: Minister

Islamabad: Pakistan's Interior Minister Sheikh Rashid on Tuesday reiterated the police's claim that the daughter of Afghanistan's ambassador was not kidnapped even as he urged her to come forward and join the probe, in a case that has further soured relations between the two neighbours. His statement came a day after the police in Islamabad said they have found no evidence that Silsila Alikhil,26, daughter of Afghanistan's ambassador to Pakistan Najibullah Alikhil, was abducted from the capital city, an incident that has triggered a major diplomatic row between the two neighbouring nations. The minister told the media that she used four different taxis to commute to different locations in Islamabad and neighbouring Rawalpindi and police have all details of her travels. PTI

Confidant of Suu Kyi dies of Covid in junta jail

Hyangon: A confidant of deposed Myanmar leader Aung San Suu Kyi and stalwart democracy campaigner died on Tuesday after becoming infected with Covid in prison, authorities said. Nyan Win, a senior member and former spokesperson of the National League for Democracy (NLD) party — led by Suu Kyi — was 78. He was arrested after the February 1 coup removed NLD from power and was held in Yangon's notorious Insein prison on charges of sedition. "Nyan Win was found with Covid symptoms on July 11 and transferred to Yangon General Hospital... to get treatment," said Zaw Min Tun, spokesman of the State Administration Council — as the junta calls itself. Biden admn urges US court to extradite Rana to India

WASHINGTON

THE Biden administration has urged a federal court in Los Angeles to extradite Pakistani-origin Canadian businessman Tahawwur Rana to India where he is sought for his involvement in the 2008 Mumbai terror attack.

Rana, 59, has been declared a fugitive by India, where he is facing multiple criminal charges for his involvement in the 2008 Mumbai terror attack in which 166 people were killed. He was rearrested on June 10, 2020, in Los Angeles on an extradition request by India. In a submission before the US District Court, Central District of California in Los Angeles, the US government argues that India's extradition request contains sufficient evidence of probable cause on each of the criminal charges for which India seeks Rana's extradition.

"Having found that all of the requirements for certification of extradition have been satisfied, the Court certifies the extradition of Tahawwur Hussain Rana to the Secretary of State and commits him to custody pursuant," according to a draft order proposed by the US attorney in his submission before the court last week.

"Based on the evidence submitted by India, RANA allowed fraud against the Indian government to occur through the creation and submission of forged documents. The purpose behind such fraud is irrelevant under the Indian criminal provisions," said the document titled proposed findings of facts and conclusions of law. An Indian warrant for his arrest was issued in August 2018. PTI

Rockets land near Afghan palace as president performs Eid prayers

KABUL

AT LEAST three rockets landed near the Afghan presidential palace on Tuesday as the country's leader Ashraf Ghani held outdoor prayers with top officials to mark the start of the Eid al-Adha holiday.

The Islamic State (IS) group claimed responsibility for the attack, which comes as the Taliban continue a series of offensives to coincide with the final drawdown of foreign troops from the war-wracked country.

While ideologically different, the much smaller IS has been accused in the past by Afghan officials of acting as a proxy for the Taliban — particularly in attacks targeting civilian government workers.

"Soldiers of the caliphate targeted the presidential palace... and the Green Zone in Kabul with seven Katyusha rockets," IS said in a statement circulated on messaging app Telegram.

Earlier, the Eid morning holiday calm was shattered by incoming rockets heard across the heavily fortified Green Zone, which houses the presidential palace and several embassies, including the US mission.

In a video posted on the official palace Facebook page, dozens of men gathered in the gardens continued their prayers even as the rockets fizzed overhead and exploded nearby.

President Ghani, dressed in traditional Afghan clothing and a turban, appeared not to flinch as he continued the prayer ritual. "The Taliban have proved that they have no will and intention for peace," he said in a speech afterwards.

Interior ministry spokesman Mirwais Stanikzai said three rockets had been fired from a pickup truck, but one failed to detonate. "Based on our initial information, we have no casualties," he added.

The palace was also attacked last year as hundreds gathered for Ghani's inauguration for a second term as president.

IS had claimed responsibility for that attack too. AFP

Leftist rural teacher wins Peru prez election

LIMA

RURAL teacher-turned-political novice Pedro Castillo has become the winner of Peru's presidential election after the country's longest electoral count in 40 years.

Castillo, whose supporters included Peru's poor and rural citizens, defeated right-wing politician Keiko Fujimori by just 44,000 votes. Electoral authorities released the final official results on Monday, more than a month after the runoff election took place in the South American nation.

Wielding a pencil the size of a cane, the symbol of his Peru Libre party, Castillo popularised the phrase "No more poor in a rich country". The economy of Peru, the world's second-largest copper producer, has been crushed by the coronavirus pandemic, increasing the poverty level to almost one-third of the population and eliminating the gains of a decade.

Castillo has promised to use the revenues from the mining sector to improve public services, including education and health, whose inadequacies were highlighted by the pandemic.

Since surprising Peruvians and observers by advancing to the presidential runoff polls, Castillo has softened his first proposals on nationalising multinational mining and natural gas companies. Instead, his campaign has said he is considering raising taxes on profits due to high copper prices. AP

Boris resisted tightening of curbs as 'most dying were above 80': Ex-aide

LONDON

UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson's former top aide Dominic Cummings, who had an uncer-emonious exit from Downing Street last year, has claimed that his ex-boss sought to avoid a second lockdown last autumn, arguing that most of the people dying were over 80.

Cummings, who has made a series of attacks on the Prime Minister over his handling of the pandemic lockdown in the country, launched a fresh set of allegations in an interview to the BBC.

He said Boris Johnson had messaged him to say: "I no longer buy all this NHS (National Health Service) overwhelmed stuff." Cummings said Johnson was reluctant to tighten Covid restrictions as cases rose last September because he thought people dying from it were "essentially all over 80".

I, UK Chief Scientific Adviser and England's Chief Medical Officer Professor Chris Whitty had pushed for tougher curbs from mid-September, but Johnson had said, 'No, I'm not doing it'

— Dominic Cummings, ex-aide of Boris

In response, Downing Street said the Prime Minister had taken the "necessary action to protect lives and livelihoods, guided by the best scientific advice" throughout the pandemic.

In the interview, Cummings said he, UK Chief Scientific Adviser Sir Patrick Vallance and England's Chief Medical Officer Professor Chris Whitty had pushed for tougher restrictions from mid-September, but Johnson had said: "No, I'm not doing it." Cummings said near the start of the pandemic last year, Johnson had wanted to keep his weekly face-to-face meetings with the Queen going, but that he had to warn his boss that she might die if she caught coronavirus.

"There's people in this office who are isolating. You might have coronavirus. I might have coronavirus. You can't go and see the Queen. What if you go and see her and give the Queen coronavirus? You obviously can't go," he claims to have said. A Downing Street spokesperson said: "Since the start of the pandemic, the PM has taken necessary action to protect lives and livelihoods." AP

SOUTH Korea's Prime Minister on Tuesday apologised for "failing to carefully take care of the health" of hundreds of sailors who contracted Covid on a navy ship taking part in an anti-piracy mission off East Africa.

The outbreak aboard the destroyer Munmu the Great is the largest cluster South Korea's military has seen. A total of 247 of the ship's 301 crew have tested positive for Covid in recent days, and the entire crew returned to South Korea aboard military planes on Tuesday evening.

None of the crew had been vaccinated because they left South Korea in early February, before the start of the country's vaccination campaign.

PERILOUS JOURNEY

Record 430 migrants make risky Channel crossing to UK in single day

LONDON

A RECORD number of at least 430 migrants have illegally crossed the Channel to the UK in a single day, the government said Tuesday, as it vowed a crackdown.

Monday's figure surpassed a previous daily high of 416 set in September 2020, and came as UK lawmakers debate new legislation that would overhaul asylum rules and impose stricter jail terms for both migrants and people-smugglers.

Growing numbers of migrants — many of them on dangerously overcrowded inflatable boats — have reached the UK since the start of 2020. The crossings typically increase in favourable summer weather.

One dingy carrying around 50 people, including women and young children, landed on Monday in Kent on England's southern coast, with some of them raising their hands in celebration.

Dan O'Mahoney, the government's Clandestine Channel Threat Commander, called the rise in crossings "unacceptable" and "dangerous".

"People should claim asylum in the first safe country they reach and not risk their lives making these dangerous crossing," he said. "We are continuing to pursue the criminals behind these illegal crossings."

Last year, the government says roughly 8,500 people arrived in Britain having made the perilous crossing across the Channel from mainland Europe, one of the world's busiest shipping lanes, in small boats.

Most of the crossings start in France, and the two governments have been at loggerheads over who should take responsibility for stopping them.

O'Mahoney said the government's Nationality and Borders Bill, which is proceeding through parliament, would "protect lives and break this cycle of illegal crossings".

The legislation increases the maximum sentence for migrants entering the UK unlawfully from six months to four years. Convicted people-smugglers would face a life sentence. "People cross the Channel because they are out of options," Daniel Sohege, director of the human rights group Stand For All, wrote on Twitter. "This is what happens when other routes are closed," he added, saying the new bill would make the situation "worse and more dangerous". AFP

I-T glitches: Govt may wave late fine; Infy under pressure

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

AS the newly launched website for Income Tax office continues to face technical glitches, officials are considering waiving of fine for late filing and have mounted pressure on Infosys to fix the problem.

Sources in the finance ministry claimed that in the meeting last month, Infosys had sought time till July 15 to fix technical glitches, however, they (Infosys) have not been able to fix all problems. The IT department has said that in this case government needs to waive fine for late filing in some categories and allow paperless filing.

"We have continuously in touch with the technical team. But they have missed the deadline, although some problems had been fixed. If it is not completed by end of this month, we will consider relaxing late fine and even extending date," a CBDT official told TNIE.

Meanwhile, CBDT grants further relaxation in electronic filing of forms 15CA & 15CB in view of difficulties reported by taxpayers in the filing of forms online on the new e-filing portal.

Taxpayers can now file Form 15 CA and Form 15 CB manually till August 15.

Any payment made by a resident Indian to a non-resident has to be declared in Form 15CA.

"In view of the difficulties reported by taxpayers in electronic filing of Income Tax Forms 15CA/15CB on the portal, www.incometax.gov.in, it has been decided that taxpayers can submit the aforesaid forms in manual format to the authorised dealers till August 15, 2021. Authorised dealers are advised to accept such forms till August 15, 2021 for the purpose of foreign remittances," the Finance Ministry said in a statement issued on Monday.

On Tuesday, finance ministery told parliament that Infosys has acknowledged the technical issues in the new Income Tax portal and some of the initial glitches like slow functioning of the portal and non-availability of certain functionalities have been mitigated.

"Some of the initial issues experienced by taxpayers regarding slowness of the portal, non-availability of certain functionalities or technical issues in functionalities have been mitigated," , Minister of State for Finance Pankaj Chaudhary told Rajya Sabha in response to a query.

'Pension money soon to be allowed into IPOs'

Mumbai: Pension fund managers will soon be allowed to invest in initial public offerings, and also in a broader list of stocks, a top official from regulator PFRDA said on Tuesday. The Pension Regulatory and Development Authority is aiming to increase the number of subscribers looking to build a retirement corpus by 1 crore in FY22 with the increase in interest during the pandemic, its Chairman Supratim Bandyopadhyay said.

Govt seeks Parliament nod for ₹1.87 lakh-cr additional spending

₹1.59 lakh cr to be transferred to states as back-to-back loan in lieu of GST compensation

Total additional spending

₹1.64 lakh cr
To be matched by savings or enhanced receipts and recovery by various depts

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE Centre on Tuesday sought approval for additional gross expenditure of ₹1.87 lakh crore, as per the first batch of supplementary demands for grants tabled in the Lok Sabha by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman.

Out of this, ₹23,675 crore is the extra net cash outlay, while the remaining amount of ₹1.64 lakh crore is matched by savings of the ministries/departments or by enhanced receipts and recovery aggregates.

This includes extra spending of ₹17,000 crore for the health ministry, in the current financial year to meet the health preparedness, healthcare research to handle Covid-19 situation.

A substantial chunk of the total gross spending is towards transfer to states for shortfall in goods and services tax compensation cess. ₹1.59 lakh crore would be transferred to states as back-to-back loan in lieu of the GST compensation shortfall.

However, the centre claimed this will not entail any cash outgo.

"As the back-to-back loans are to be met from equivalent capital receipts, the expenditure will not entail any additional cash outgo," the supplementary demands for grants said.

Also, the finance ministry sought approval for ₹2,050 crore for the Ministry of Civil Aviation, which includes ₹1,872 crore towards loans and advances to Air India.

The cash outgo also includes ₹1,100 crore for the Ministry of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution towards providing assistance to sugar mills for 2019-20 sugar season.

Besides, nod for spending an additional ₹1,222 crore under the head Department of Pharmaceuticals has been sought towards waiver of the government loan of Indian Drugs and Pharmaceuticals, Bengal Chemicals & Pharmaceuticals and to clear pending employee dues of Hindustan Antibiotics and Rajasthan Drugs and Pharmaceuticals.

The additional spending is over and above the total expenditure of ₹34.83 lakh crore earmarked for this fiscal year in the Budget.

Interestingly, the supplement demand did not include additional fertiliser subsidy of ₹14,775 crore, free foodgrain scheme under Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Yojana, of ₹94,000 crore, and the extra ₹15,000 crore for centralised vaccine procurement.

Govt issues order to implement DA & DR hikes

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a relief to 48 lakh central government employees, and 65 lakh pensioners, Finance Ministry on Tuesday issued an order to hike dearness allowance to 28% from July 1.

Last week, the Union Cabinet had approved an 11 percentage point hike in dearness allowance (DA) and dearness relief (DR) for central government employees and pensioners with effect from July 1. The rate of DA from January 1, 2020, to June 30, 2021, was 17%. The increase in the DA and DR will impose an additional annual burden of ₹34,401 crore on the exchequer, the government said post the cabinet meeting.

In an office memorandum, the Department of Expenditure under the Finance Ministry said the DA payable to central government employees shall be enhanced from the existing rate of 17% to 28% of basic pay. The increase subsumes the additional instalments arising on January 1, 2020; July 1, 2020, and January 1, 2021.

"These orders shall also apply to the civilian employees paid from the defence services estimates," it said, adding for armed forces personnel and railway employees separate orders will be issued by the respective ministries.

As a cost cutting measure, the government had put on hold an increment in DA till June 30, 2021, due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

Swiggy raises $1.25 bn from SoftBank, others

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

INDIA'S online food delivery market is flush with cash right now with a leading player, Swiggy, having raised $1.25 billion (₹9,375 crore) in a Series J (late stage funding) round led by SofBank's Vision Fund 2 and one of its long-term investors, Prosus Ventures. The announcement comes two days after Swiggy's biggest rival, Zomato closed its ₹9,375-crore Initial public offering (IPO) at an $8.7 billion valuation, which was highly oversubscribed by both the retail and institutional investors.

Swiggy's post money valuation during the current financing round stood at $5.5 billion. Existing investors, including Accel Partners and Wellington Management, also participated in the round, the Bengaluru-headquartered firm said in a statement.

"The scope of food delivery in India is massive and over the next few years, we will continue to invest aggressively into growing this category. Our biggest investments will be in our non-food businesses that have witnessed tremendous consumer love and growth in a short span, especially in the past 15 months of the pandemic. I believe the next 10-15 years offer a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for companies like Swiggy as the Indian middle class expands and our target segment for convenience grows to 500 million users," said Sriharsha Majety, chief executive of Swiggy, in a statement.

This also marks Japanese tech investment giant SoftBank's first bet on food tech industry of India. Sources said that SoftBank may have poured in $450 million in Swiggy. SoftBank's Vision Fund 2 has invested in a series of start-ups since the onset of pandemic last year which includes Unacademy, Flipkart, Meesho.

"Their focus on consumer delight, product innovation, and ecosystem support has made Swiggy a compelling digital experience in India. They have the railroads in place to empower multiple businesses to reach the new age consumer on a daily basis, and food delivery is just the beginning," said Sumer Juneja, Partner at SoftBank Investment Advisers, in a statement.

Stock markets tumble; experts see no major uptick in coming sessions

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

JOINING the global sell-off due to rising Covid-19 cases in countries such as the USA, the UK, Japan and Korea, India's equity market ended lower for the third session on July 20. After falling 1.1% on Monday, the BSE Sensex closed 355 points lower at 52,198, while the Nifty50 closed 120 points lower at 15,632. Experts feel bulls will have a tough time to make a comeback in the coming sessions as bearish sentiment is likely to dominate the market.

"Markets globally are facing concerns of inflation, slowing growth due to Covid-2 and Covid-3 waves, and rising interest rates...Patchy monsoon rain in India and subdued Q1FY22 corporate results have raised fresh concerns on the economic growth and market valuation. Overall, the valuations in the market remain high and there is little more upside possible as far as the benchmark indices are concerned," said Deepak Jasani, Head of Retail Research, HDFC Securities. He added a portfolio review and taking profits from a part of the portfolio is advised.

Only 47% of total routes under UDAN scheme operational, says ICRA report

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ONLY 47% of the awarded routes have been operationalised under the government's ambitious regional air connectivity scheme, also known as the UDAN scheme, said rating agency ICRA on Tuesday. It added that the second Covid-19 wave will impact the scheme further.

This observation by ICRA comes days after the newly appointed civil aviation minister Jyotiraditya Scindia had announced that Madhya Pradesh will get 8 new flights connecting small towns in the state to metro cities.

According to ICRA, the number of new RCS routes which started operations increased at a healthy pace and stood at 102 and 120 routes in FY19 and FY20, respectively, but have declined to 77 in FY21 due to the coronavirus (Covid-19) pandemic. Only 39% of unserved and underserved airports have been operationalised, it said.

Covid hits regional connectivity scheme

- Total operational routes were 102 and 120 in FY19 and FY20, respectively, but fell to 77 in FY21
- SpiceJet, the biggest player in the scheme, incurred nearly `1,000-cr loss last fiscal, TruJet and Zoom Air are struggling to remain operational

"The slow progress of UDAN implementation is attributable to delayed upgradation of infrastructure and readiness of airports, due to lack of adequate right of way (including insufficient runway lengths) at some of the RCS airports and delays in securing necessary regulatory approvals," said Shubham Jain, SVP & group head, Corporate Ratings, ICRA.

He added that low demand on few routes awarded, adverse and unpredictable weather conditions leads to inconsistent operations and have also resulted in closure of operations by some airlines in a few cases.

A senior industy executive said with airlines and airports staring at big losses this fiscal after a dreadful FY21, there is limited incentive for them to start new routes under RCS as demand remains way lower than pre-Covid times.

"While SpiceJet, the biggest player in the RCS scheme, incurred nearly ₹1,000-crore loss last fiscal, regional carriers such as TruJet and Zoom Air are struggling to remain operational. Most carriers have put their focus on routes that have high passenger load and makes money," he said.

Indian airlines had seen net loss of ₹21,000 crore in FY21 and net loss of ₹12,700 crore is estimated for FY22, with the industry debt level increasing to around ₹50,000 crore in FY22, ICRA had previously said.

Recovery underway, but tepid credit growth a key laggard: HDFC Chairman

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

HOUSING Development Finance Corp (HDFC) chairman Deepak Parekh on Tuesday exuberated confidence that the country's macroeconomic fundamentals are strong and the economy is well on the recovery path. Parameters such as foreign reserves, buoyant capital markets and agriculture growth remain resilient and all these point to an economic turnaround. However, the tepid credit growth remains a key laggard, he added.

"Owing to the second wave, the Indian economy is likely to mirror a similar trend seen in FY21, where the first half of the financial year is weaker and the second half is significantly stronger. However, the world is still susceptible to recurring waves of infections and the overall economic recovery will hence remain uneven and patchy," Parekh said in his address at the 44th annual general meeting of HDFC.

He further pointed out that the inherent demand for home loans continues to be strong, and even in real estate, most companies have not given up on their office spaces during the pandemic.

Demand scenarios for both affordable housing and high-end properties are strong. The average size of housing loans stood at ₹29.5 lakh, compared with ₹27 lakh in the previous year. With the e-commerce boom, he said that the next phase of growth is seen coming from the commercial realty sector. "Demand is coming from warehousing and fulfillment centres," he said, adding with the build-up of digital infrastructure, demand for data centres is also on the rise.

"These are the segments of the real estate sector that have potential to grow immensely," Parekh said.

Asian Paints profit jumps two-fold to ₹574.30 cr

Asian Paints on Tuesday reported an over two-fold increase in its consolidated profit to ₹574.30 crore for the first quarter ended June 30, 2021, on account of higher revenue from operations. The company had posted a profit of ₹219.61 crore during the April-June quarter of the previous fiscal. Its revenue from operations during April-June 2021 jumped 91.1% to ₹5,585.36 crore as against ₹2,922.66 crore in the same period previous fiscal, Asian Paints said. Asian Paints MD and CEO Amit Syngle said, "The domestic decorative business more than doubled its volume and delivered stellar revenues over the lower base of last year which had suffered from the first nationwide lockdown."

BAJAJ FINANCE BAD LOAN DOUBLES TO ₹4,737 CRORE

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BAJAJ Finance saw a significant deterioration in asset quality as gross non performing assets (NPA) and net NPA stood at 2.96% and 1.46% respectively as of June 30, 2021 as against 1.79% and 0.74% q-on-q. In absolute terms, gross bad loans rose by ₹2,006 crore to ₹4,737 crore.

Auto finance business was worst affected. Its gross NPA grew by ₹1,199 crore to ₹2,426 crore. Bad loans across other businesses increased by ₹807 crore to ₹2,311 crore as of June 2021. "It was a muted quarter impacted by a severe second wave of pandemic. Both businesses and debt management efficiencies were affected due to strict lockdowns across most parts of India. Business transformation remains on track for phase-1 to go live in October 2021," the company said in an investor presentation. In absence of a severe third wave, Bajaj Finance aims to bring down its gross NPA to 1.7-1.8% and net NPA to 0.7-0.8% by March 2022.

ASIANOMICS

ASIA

ASIAN FX, STOCKS SLIDE AS VIRUS HITS SENTIMENT

Equities in South Korea, India, and Thailand declined on Tuesday, while most Asian currencies traded flat to lower, as the rapid spread of novel coronavirus at home and abroad intensified fears about a slowdown in global economic growth. In holiday-thinned trade where Philippines, Indonesia, Malaysia and Singapore bourses were shut, Seoul, Thailand and Taiwan's stocks dropped between 0.4% and 1.6%. Investors bought safe-haven assets, with US Treasury yields tumbling to five-month lows, as a Delta variant-fuelled rise in Covid-19 cases in countries with high vaccination rates like the United States and England stoked worries over economic growth. Denting sentiment further, China – the region's growth engine – reported its highest daily tally of Covid-19 cases since January after a second cluster of infections involving the highly contagious Delta variant emerged. Shanghai shares eased 0.3%, but the yuan nudged up 0.1% after the People's Bank of China stood pat on benchmark lending rate despite growing expectations for a cut. The South Korean won and the Singapore dollar weakened 0.2% each, while the Thai baht was little changed. All three countries are seeing a spike in cases amid curbs that have curtailed economic activity. Indian shares slid 1% to a one-month low after some blue-chip companies posted mixed results.

TAIWAN

TAIWAN JUNE EXPORT ORDERS SURGE, OUTLOOK BULLISH

Taiwan's export orders grew by more than expected in June and the government said the outlook for the island's tech goods remains strong on demand for high-end chips and ahead of the year-end holiday shopping season. Taiwan's export orders, a bellwether of global technology demand, jumped 31.1% from a year earlier to $53.73 billion in June, data from the Ministry of Economic Affairs showed on Tuesday. It attributed the strong performance to demand for 5G and semiconductors, especially from auto makers, as the world grapples with chip shortages. Demand for home electronics like laptops to support the "home economy", with the pandemic still restricting the movement of millions around the world, also remained strong, the ministry added. In May, export orders surged 34.5% from a year earlier to$52.29 billion. Looking ahead, the ministry warned of uncertainly over the spread of Covid-10 variants around the world, but saw an upside in climbing vaccination rates and the recovery of the global economy.

JAPAN

JAPAN'S CORE INFLATION HITS 15-MONTH

Japan's core consumer prices rose 0.2% in June from a year earlier to mark the fastest annual pace in over a year, data showed on Tuesday, a sign the impact of global commodity inflation was gradually broadening. But the increase, driven largely by higher energy costs, was much smaller than that of other major economies due to weak consumption, reinforcing expectations the Bank of Japan will be forced to maintain its massive stimulus for the time being. The rise in the core consumer price index (CPI), which includes oil products but excludes volatile fresh food prices, matched a median market forecast for a 0.2% gain and followed a 0.1% increase in May.The increase, which was the fastest since March 2020, was due mostly to a 4.6% rise in energy costs with gasoline prices up 17.9% in a sign households were facing higher cost of living. Some countries, including the US and Britain, have seen inflation rise faster than expected as demand recovers from the coronavirus pandemic, triggering debate on how quickly they should wean their economies off stimulus. With inflation well short of its 2% target, the BOJ is likely to lag behind its counterparts in dialing back its massive monetary support to underpin a fragile recovery.

AITA to refer Bopanna's recording to ethics panel

Rohan Bopanna's act of making public his conversation with All India Tennis Association (AITA) secretary general Anil Dhupar will be referred to its ethics and managing committee, the sports body said on Tuesday. AITA also released its complete correspondence with ITF concerning the qualification of India's men doubles team for the Tokyo Olympics.

TOKYO TRAIL

COVID CASES AT OLYMPIC VILLAGE 5

STAR MOVIES

The Olympics, it's often said, is a celebration. It's a chance to see a whole city welcome all of sport's greatest stars. It's a chance to hear, feel and see how a city cheers for its favourite sons and daughters. It gives a rare peek into the culture of a country. In Rio de Janeiro, you heard tens of thousands of Brazilians — separated by colour, football fandom, gender and political ideology — scream their vocal chords off as Thiago Braz set a new Olympic record in the men's pole vault. That really is what makes the Olympics unbridled theatre. You will not have any of these sights and sounds in Tokyo. The city, under a state of emergency because of another wave of the coronavirus, will be quiet even as sport's best and greatest gather for the 32nd Olympics. But there is a compelling reason to watch these Games. It's a chance to celebrate the athletes who will be relied upon to make these Games memorable. From that aspect, Swaroop Swaminathan takes a look at 10 athletes who could make you jump on your sofa and take notice.

SIMONE BILES, USA
ARTISTIC GYMNASTICS

Nothing in life is a certainty but Biles, already one of the greatest gymnasts ever, winning a truckload of medals, has the air of certainty. She is already a four-time champion and is playing a different sport when compared to her competitors. While others are still perfecting moves, Biles is so ahead she has at least four moves named after her. It's possible that this could be her last Olympics so time to watch her all the more.

KATIE LEDECKY, USA
SWIMMING

Another athlete who is firmly in the Biles bracket in that her legacy is already secure irrespective of whatever happens in the pool in Tokyo. She is a heavy favourite to win both 800m and the 1500m frees. What makes this an interesting Olympics for the five-time champion is that she finally has a contender: Australia's Ariarna Titmus. If all goes well for Ledecky, she could pick five gold.

ALLYSON FELIX, USA
ATHLETICS

As far as narratives go, you will go a long way in finding out one better than this. Her last five years has been surreal — pre-eclampsia, calling out Nike for their inhumane treatment, beginning her own shoe brand and joining hands with her sponsor to raise money for childcare for athlete moms. Already one of the most decorated athletes in history, one more medal will see her becoming the winningest women athlete ever.

NAOMI OSAKA, JAPAN
TENNIS

The sport has been hit by a spate of pullouts in recent weeks but one of its biggest stars will use the occasion to comeback after a taking a little break. When she was last playing the sport, an unfortunate misunderstanding resulted in her walking out. With no fans permitted, the pressure perhaps will be lesser than what will be expected. A potential final against Ash Barty could be match-up for the ages.

ELIUD KIPCHOGE, KENYA
MARATHON

Devoid of big established Olympic performers, the men's athletics programme looks a bit weak. However, there will be eyeballs to see if Kipchoge can go where no human has previously ventured in an official race: finishing the marathon under two hours. With advanced super spikes for added comfort, the three-time Olympic medallist could just find that extra gear within himself to breach that mark.

LAUREL HUBBARD, NEW ZEALAND
WEIGHTLIFTING

Despite all the criticism of it being unfair to biological female participants, the Kiwi lifter will become the first openly transgender to compete in the history of the Games. The 87kg contestant has previously taken part at the 2018 Commonwealth Games. The IOC has said it will review the rules but it's important to state that Hubbard has gone through the entire process legally before competing.

SKY BROWN, GREAT BRITAIN
SKATEBOARDING

The hype around this 13-year-old kid is unreal. Among all new sports, her event, park skateboarding, is must watch just because of the spectacle it promises to be. Think of the event as unreal mid-air maneuvers and physics-defying moves you thought were only reserved for Hollywood flicks. The Team GB sensation, ranked third in this discipline, won a Worlds bronze in 2019. Time to upgrade that?

ADAM ONDRA, CZECH REPUBLIC
SPORT CLIMBING

Probably the greatest climber of all time when you discount Tom Cruise in the MI franchise. Ondra isn't about speed but where he truly excels in is lead and bouldering. The athlete that does best across all three categories will win gold. Chances are this Czech will be on top of the leaderboard when the awards are handed out in this discipline. Ondra is exactly the kind of figure the next generation will love to adopt a new sport.

MA LONG, CHINA
TABLE TENNIS

The Roger Federer of the sport, no questions asked. His very aggressive style of play, thanks to that whiplash of a forehand of his, has earned him a lot of fans, both in China and abroad. Having continued China's domination in the sport this decade, he truly has the opportunity to leave his mark. Win both gold medals on offer and he can walk away having won the most gold in the sport in the history of the Olympics.

KENTO MOMOTA, JAPAN
BADMINTON

In a parallel universe, this would have been an event where ticket prices would have gone through the roof in the black market. Coming off a horrific accident, it's unsafe to make a prediction but if anybody can he can. There's really no peers for him at the moment, such is his command of the court. Can he defeat history? No Japanese men's player has ever medalled. Easier said than done but don't bet against him.

Personal coaches of wrestlers to reach later

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

PERSONAL coaches of Olympic-bound Indian wrestlers, who are training in Russia at the moment, will not travel to Tokyo along with their wards on July 29. They, in fact, are scheduled to leave the country a few days later. However, Vinesh Phogat's (53kg) Hungarian coach, Woller Akos, will accompany her when she leaves Hungary for Tokyo on July 26. "Travel plan of these personal coaches has been designed to ensure they get accommodation at the Games Village as soon as they reach there," said a Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) official.

Three wrestlers — Bajrang Punia (65kg), Ravi Dahiya (57kg) and Deepak Punia (86kg) — are training in Vladikavkaz along with their personal coaches. While Bajrang is training with Georgian Shako Bentinidis, who is an employee of WFI, Ravi is being coached by Russian Kamal Malikov. Murad Gaidarov, the 2008 Beijing Olympics silver medallist, is the coach of Deepak. "These coaches are scheduled to leave on August 1 and they reach Tokyo the next day," added the official. These wrestlers will reach Moscow on July 25 and take RT-PCR tests there before leaving. As many as eight wrestling coaches, including four overseas coaches, have been cleared for the Olympics. The Indian coaches are expected to accompany the wrestlers to Tokyo.

Apart from these male grapplers , three Tokyo-bound women wrestlers, Seema Bisla (50kg), Anshu Malik (57kg) and Sonam Malik (62kg), who are training at SAI centre in Sonepat, have taken two RT-PCR tests till Tuesday. They, along with chief coach Kuldeep Malik, will fly out of the country on July 26.

Meanwhile, it is learnt that Vinesh's husband Somvir Rathi reached Hungary a couple of days ago to deliver the Olympic accreditation card. He is also expected to accompany Vinesh to the Games. "He has a plan to go to Tokyo to watch Vinesh in action. Given the situation due to the pandemic and restrictions imposed in Tokyo to counter it, the plan is not yet finalised. If he gets desired permission, he may go to Tokyo," said a source.

July 24 a big day for Indian contingent

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

MARK the date. July 24, the first medal day at the Tokyo Olympics could turn out to be huge for India with some of the big medal contenders battling it out in different disciplines. Medals will be rolled out in seven different sports on the day. All eyes will be on Mirabai Chanu (weightlifting, 49 kg), Atanu Das and Deepika Kumari (archery mixed team), Saurabh Chaudhary, Abhishek Verma (10m air pistol men) Apurvi Chandela and Elavenil Valarivan (10m air rifle, women) on Saturday.

If Indians do end up on podium, it could set the tone for the rest of the athletes in the quadrennial event. The other medal contenders from the country will have more belief in themselves and be further motivated to cross the finish line with a medal. Director and CEO at Olympic Gold Quest and former hockey captain of India, Viren Rasquinha has outlined it as a critical day for India.

"I think the first day (July 24) is going to be massive. It is going to be so important because winning medals sends a wave of confidence throughout the entire contingent, especially from your potential medal winners. If we manage to win one or two medals on that day, I think India will surely win more than six medals at Tokyo. Conversely, if we don't win medals (on that day), it is going to put a huge burden of expectations on the players following that, so 24th of July is a critical day for India," said Rasquinha, who is also expecting a medal from the men's hockey team.

In fact, the 126-member Indian contingent for Tokyo is their largest ever, and many believe the country will come up with their best ever medal show at the Olympics. Some even remain confident of a double digit finish when India's best show has been six medals at the 2012 London Olympics, which included four silver and two bronze.

To some extent, India's chances in Tokyo, compared to the past editions, are high with India competing in 18 different disciplines. With strong contenders in sports like wrestling, boxing, shooting, badminton, archery among others, expectations are high thanks to their performances in world events. However, the pressure is undoubtedly going to be huge at Tokyo.

"Of course, there is pressure. In India, we have few potential medal winners as compared to other major nations so the pressure and burden of expectations is much more," said Rasquinha, who feels the Olympics provides athletes a wonderful opportunity to change their lives. "It is a great opportunity for their lives to be changed. Part of being an Olympic athlete is to be able to handle the pressure, that is what you train hard for and for years. They are not doing something new, they have done whatever they are going to do 10, 000 times in the last year and before. So, now it is about doing it when it really matters under pressure."

Ugandan who fled camp found in central Japan

TOKYO: A Ugandan athlete who fled during pre-Olympics training in western Japan last week has been found and is being interviewed by police, officials said Tuesday. Mie prefectural police in central Japan said 20-year-old weightlifter Julius Ssekitoleko was in the Yokkaichi city, 170 kilometers (105 miles) east of his host town in western Japan. Police are asking him what happened since he fled his hotel in Izumisano in the Osaka prefecture Friday, leaving behind a note saying he didn't want to return to his country. Ssekitoleko left behind his luggage and a note saying he wanted to stay in Japan and work.

India win ODI series after Chahar heroics

COLOMBO: Deepak Chahar scored a brilliant 69 to help India beat Sri Lanka by three wickets in the second ODI and clinch the series in Colombo on Tuesday. At one point India, who were chasing 276 to win, were struggling at 193/7, but Chahar and Bhuvneshwar Kumar's unbeaten 84-run stand helped them cross the line and take unassailable 2-0 lead. In fact, earlier, Chahar delivered with the ball too, taking two wickets while Yuzvendra Chahal and Bhuvneshwar took three each. Brief scores: SL 275/9 in 50 ovs (Asalanka 65; Chahal 3/53, Kumar 3/54) lt to Ind 277/7 in 49.1 ovs (Suryakumar 53, Chahar 69 n.o, Hasaranga 3/37).

SOUND ADVICE

Avoid social media distractions, Vijender tells boxers

MARTIN JOSEPH @ Kochi

WHILE all eyes will expectedly be on MC Mary Kom, Amit Panghal and Vikas Krishan, there is a dark horse among India's Tokyo-bound boxers. Unheralded pugilist Ashish Kumar, who hails from Himachal Pradesh, will be competing in the middleweight category (75 kg) in what will be his first-ever appearance at the Olympics.

The 26-year-old will be competing in the same weight division in which Vijender Singh had won bronze in the 2008 Beijing Olympics. Till this day, Vijender remains the only male boxer to win an Olympic medal and the 35-year-old feels that Ashish should keep his head down and avoid all the distractions around him to have a memorable experience in the ring.

"My advice to him (Ashish) would be to stay away from social media and save up all his energy. When you go to the Olympic village, there will be a lot of changes.

"You are treated like a king and you'll feel like you can do whatever you want to do in the village. But I'd tell him not to waste his energy and just focus on why you are here and what you are doing here. Just focus on your aim and that's it," said Vijender during a virtual media interaction on Tuesday.

Boxer Ashish Kumar

India will see its biggest ever boxing contingent at the Olympics with nine boxers (five male and four female pugilists) set to compete in Tokyo. A lot will be expected from them especially after the 2016 Rio Olympics disappointment where they returned empty-handed.

"At the last Olympics, we didn't do well. This time, the squad which is going to the Olympics is very good and nine boxers have qualified. The likes of Mary Kom and Vikas Krishan have experience and they have a very good chance," he said.

Vijender is confident that these experienced boxers will put on a good show and fetch some medals.

"I will say that we will get at least one or two medals for sure because of Mary Kom, Amit, and Vikas. I hope they will come up with medals. These boxers can also share their experiences with others. Also, those boxers who are participating in their first Olympics, I'm sure they will give it their all. And even if they don't win a medal, there will be another Olympics coming up after four years," he said.

Meanwhile, the evergreen Mary Kom will be competing at what will be her last Olympics and Vijender believes she continues to be an inspiration. "She is a strong woman and we just hope she returns with a medal. She is such a strong lady and to be competing at such a level to this day is amazing. We all can learn so much from her," he said.

Olympic motto gets a makeover

The Olympic motto was amended to "faster, higher, stronger - together" during the International Olympic Committee's session here on Tuesday as the world waited for the pandemic-hit Tokyo Games to begin on July 23. The word "together" after a hyphen has been added to the earlier motto, which was made up of three Latin words -- Citius, Altius, Fortius, translating to "Faster Higher Stronger" in English. The proposal to include the word together was made by IOC President Thomas Bach, which was endorsed by the body's Executive Board (EB) in April. Bach had suggested the motto should become "faster, higher, stronger - together" in response to the COVID-19 crisis. "I made this proposal to express this need of solidarity to become faster, to be able to aim higher, to become stronger, for this we need to be together, it means we need solidarity," Bach had said during an IOC session in March. The motto now reads 'Citius, Altius, Fortius ' Communis' in Latin.

Barty to stay outside the Olympic village

The day after Ashleigh Barty's arrival into Japan, Australia's chef de mission Ian Chesterman has confirmed the World No 1 tennis player will not be staying inside the Olympic village during her stay in Tokyo. Barty, who only last week lifted her maiden Wimbledon trophy, is hoping to continue the momentum and add an Olympic gold medal to her kitty. The Australian defeated Czech Republic's Karolina Pliskova 6-3, 6-7, 6-3 in the Wimbledon final on July 10.

'Sleepless nights' for Bach over Tokyo Games

Olympics chief Thomas Bach revealed "doubts" and "sleepless nights" over the postponed Tokyo Games as the opening ceremony nears after a year's delay and coronavirus chaos that has made them deeply unpopular with the Japanese public."Over the past 15 months we had to take many decisions on very uncertain grounds. We had doubts every day. We deliberated and discussed. There were sleepless nights," said Bach. Bach has drawn scattered protests during his visit to Japan, where the latest poll in the Asahi Shimbun newspaper showed 55 percent of respondents oppose holding the Games now.

US health officials say the Delta variant continues to surge and accounts for an estimated 83% of US Covid-19 cases. That's a dramatic increase from the week of July 3, when it accounted for 50% of sequenced cases.

JEFF BEZOS BLASTS INTO SPACE ON OWN ROCKET

Richest human on Earth went to space on a smooth 10 minutes & 10 seconds spaceflight; key milestone for US rocket company in making space tourism viable

TECHNOLOGY

VAN HORN: Jeff Bezos blasted into space on Tuesday on his rocket company's first flight with people on board, becoming the second billionaire in just over a week to ride his own spacecraft.

The Amazon founder was accompanied by a hand-picked group: his brother, an 18-year-old from the Netherlands and an 82-year-old aviation pioneer from Texas — the youngest and oldest to ever fly in space.

"Best day ever!" Bezos said when the capsule touched down on the desert floor in remote West Texas after the 10-minute flight.

Blue Origin's New Shepard rocket soared on the 52nd anniversary of the Apollo 11 moon landing, a date chosen by Bezos for its historical significance. He held fast to it, even as Virgin Galactic's Richard Branson pushed up his own flight from New Mexico in the race for space tourist dollars and beat him to space by nine days.

Unlike Branson's piloted rocket plane, Bezos' capsule was completely automated and required no official staff on board for the up-and-down flight.

Jeff Bezos exists the Blue Origin's reusable New Shepard craft capsule after it returned from space on Tuesday

Blue Origin reached an altitude of about 106 kilometers, more than 16 kilometers higher than Branson's July 11 ride.

Excited passengers

The passengers had several minutes of weightlessness to float around the spacious white capsule with huge windows. Cheering, whooping and exclamations of "wow" could be heard from the capsule through an audio feed. The capsule landed under parachutes, with Bezos and his guests briefly experiencing nearly six times the force of gravity, or 6 G's, on the way back. Led by Bezos, they climbed out of the capsule after touchdown with wide grins, embracing parents, partners and children, then popped open bottles of sparkling wine, spraying one another.

Their flight lasted 10 minutes and 10 seconds — five minutes shy of Alan Shepard's Freedom 7 flight in 1961.

Sharing Bezos' dream-come-true adventure was Wally Funk, from the Dallas area, one of 13 female pilots who went through the same tests as NASA's all-male astronaut corps in the early 1960s but never made it into space.

Joining them on the ultimate joyride was the company's first paying customer, Oliver Daemen, a last-minute fill-in for the mystery winner of a $28 million auction who opted for a later flight. The Dutch teen's father took part in the auction, and agreed on a lower undisclosed price last week when Blue Origin offered his son the vacated seat.

Space tourism

Blue Origin — founded by Bezos in 2000 in Kent, Washington, near Amazon's Seattle headquarters — hasn't revealed its price for a ride to space. Two more passenger flights are planned by year's end, said Blue Origin CEO Bob Smith.

Virgin Galactic already has more than 600 reservations at $250,000 apiece. Founded by Branson in 2004, the company has sent crew into space four times and plans two more test flights before launching customers next year.

Blue Origin's approach was slower and more deliberate. After 15 successful unoccupied test flights to space since 2015, Bezos finally declared it was time to put people on board. The US Federal Aviation Administration agreed last week, approving the commercial space license.

Earth's carbon emissions to hit all-time high in 2023

Carbon emissions are set to hit an all-time high by 2023 as just two per cent of pandemic recovery finance is being spent on clean energy, the International Energy Agency said on Tuesday

Last week, more than 100 developing nations called on rich economies to make good on a decade-old promise to provide $100 billion annually to countries at the front line of climate change. Writing ahead of the COP26 climate summit in Glasgow in November, the countries also urged historic polluters to rapidly decarbonise their economies while helping others to do likewise
Since the Covid-19 crisis erupted, many governments may have talked about the importance of building back better for a cleaner future, but many of them are yet to put their money where their mouth... Bacteria may fix rare earths shortage

BIOLOGY

ORLÉANS: As the world seeks to reduce its reliance on China for the rare earth metals needed for modern batteries and electronics, French researchers have found a potentially potent ally: bacteria that can help extract the elements from mine slag heaps.

The tonnes of discarded ore, which contain nickel, copper and cobalt, are Europe's only domestic source of rare earths, along with discarded phones, computers and other gear.

The 17 rare earth metals, also vital for magnets, wind turbines and other advanced applications, are found in minute quantities within various ores, most of which are in Asia.

Gritty powders in their pure states, they have unique physical and electronic properties that can enhance a range of materials, from chemical catalysts to magnets and glass.

But the mining and extraction techniques to obtain them are difficult, requiring toxic chemicals applied at high pressure and temperatures, consuming a lot of energy.

At the Orleans lab, the process starts by pulverising mounds of rocks, or "tailings," left over from traditional mining and dissolving them in liquid.

Different bacteria are then injected, depending on the metal sought, along with oxygen and common nutrients like potassium or nitrogen to "feed" the bacteria.

A bioreactor machine then heats and rapidly agitates the solutions, in colours like grey-green or mustard yellow, setting the extraction process in motion.

"The bacteria allows us to do this at relatively low temperatures, between 30 and 50 degrees," Guezennec said.

"And it doesn't need to be pressurised, so these are very stable processes that are not very expensive."

After years of testing, the lab is preparing to launch tests for large-scale production, extracting rare earths and cobalt, copper and nickel from slag heaps in Finland and New Caledonia.

"This is really aimed at being used anywhere there are slag heaps that contain metal," Guezennec said.

Amazon shuts accounts and infra tied to Pegasus

TECHNOLOGY

AMAZON has shuttered the web infrastructure and accounts linked to the Israeli surveillance vendor NSO Group, media reports said.

Amazon Web Services said it had shut down accounts of the Israeli that were "confirmed to be supporting the reported hacking activity." Amazon said they had violated its terms of use.

The company's move comes after Amnesty International published a forensic analysis showing that Amazon Web Services was hosting NSO infrastructure.

Human rights and press freedom activists are up in arms about a new report on NSO Group, the notorious Israeli hacker-for-hire company. The report, by a global media consortium, expands public knowledge of the target list used in NSO's military-grade spyware.

In India, over 300 verified phone numbers, including of two ministers, over 40 journalists, three opposition leaders besides scores of business persons and activists could have been targeted for hacking through the spyware.

The Pegasus scandal highlights the virtual absence of regulation of commercial surveillance tools.

French prez also potential spyware target

Phone numbers used by French President Emmanuel Macron and top members of his government are among the potential targets for the Pegasus spyware supplied to several governments worldwide, the NGO that leaked the list of numbers said Tuesday.

"We found these numbers but we obviously couldn't do a technical analysis of Emmanuel Macron's phone" to determine if it had been infected with the malware, the head of Forbidden Stories, Laurent Richard, told LCI television.

"But it shows in any case there was an interest in doing it," he said.

No oil for Nobel Foundation

CLIMATE

The foundation that finances and organises the Nobel Prizes announced Tuesday that it had sold off its oil sector assets, after also withdrawing from the coal industry. "This year we have sold off shares in oil," Vidar Helgesen, the new head of the Stockholm-based foundation, told public broadcaster SR. According to the former Norwegian environment minister, the fund had sold off nearly 350 million Swedish kronor ($40 million, 34 million euros) of assets placed in a fund that did not have strong enough restrictions on oil. Helgesen added that it is important that Nobel laureates know where their prize money comes from. The Nobel Foundation was set up after Alfred Nobel bequeathed much of his wealth to create the prizes.

Coronavirus in British bats

VIROLOGY

A coronavirus related to the virus that causes Covid-19 in humans has been found in UK horseshoe bats. It is the first time that a sarbecovirus (SARS-related coronavirus) has been found in a horseshoe bat and the first to be discovered in the UK. However, there is no evidence that this novel virus has been transmitted to humans, or that it could in future, unless it mutates, said researchers from the University of East Anglia, Zoological Society of London, and Public Health England. UEA researchers reported in Scientific Reports that they collected faecal samples from more than 50 lesser horseshoe bats in Somerset, Gloucestershire and Wales and sent them for analysis.

In a world first, NFT of endangered songbird goes on sale

CONSERVATION

VICTORIA: Want to buy your very own "digital bird"?

In what it has been hailed as a world first, a conservation group in the Seychelles has launched a project to sell digital versions – or NFTs -- of the island nation's endangered magpie robin.

Nature Seychelles said the aim was to raise money for conservation, as traditional sources of funding have dried up during the coronavirus pandemic.

The digital twins of the black and white birds can be snapped up for as little as $10 or as much as $10,000 -- and Nature Seychelles CEO Nirmal Shah told AFP they had already raised $2,500 on the first day of the sale Monday.

NFTs -- "Non-Fungible Tokens" -- are digital objects such as drawings, animations, pieces of music, photos or videos, whose authenticity is confirmed by blockchain technology, preventing forgeries or manipulation.

The Indian Ocean archipelago is home to about 400 magpie robins, with 59 found on the Cousin Island Special Reserve.

Nature Seychelles initially issued a limited edition of 59 collectibles to represent the living birds on Cousin Island.

"You can contribute whatever you want, and the money will go directly to us to help manage this species," said Dr. Nirmal Shah, the CEO of Nature Seychelles. "This is just the beginning of experiments to find new income streams for conservation."

Shah added: "The Seychelles Magpie-robin will take us into the unchartered waters of digital tokens for conservation, with a limited edition of the first 59 collectibles – representing a 'digital twin' of this Endangered living bird."

Porini Foundation has created a carbon-neutral blockchain setup that can manage the digital species.

"The digital species, as a limited edition, have been assigned an initial value for their sale. They can be resold and shared by collectors. Importantly, all the proceeds of the initial sale will go directly to Nature Seychelles. Owners of the digital Seychelles Magpie-robin can sell on their Nature Collectibles and the follow-on proceeds will be shared between the seller and Nature Seychelles and partners," a statement from Bird Life International read.

'Checkmate' stealth fighter jet

TECHNOLOGY

Russian aircraft makers on Tuesday unveiled a prototype of a new fighter jet that features stealth capabilities and other advanced characteristics. Russian President Vladimir Putin inspected the prospective warplane displayed with much fanfare at the MAKS-2021 International Aviation and Space Salon. The air show opened Tuesday in Zhukovsky, outside Moscow. The new aircraft, which hasn't received a name yet, is smaller than Russia's latest Su-57 two-engine stealth fighter, also built by Sukhoi, and has one engine. It can fly at a speed of 1.8 times the speed of sound and has a range of 3,000 km, the jet's makers said. Russian state corporation Rostec, which includes Sukhoi and other aircraft makers, has advertised the new plane under the tag Checkmate.

GALLOPING AHEAD

The spotlight is on top rider Fouaad Mirza, who will represent India in the Tokyo Olympics 2020 in the elite sport

ASHIM SUNAM

AFTER a gap of two decades, India is set to have a representation in equestrian at the Tokyo Olympics 2020. Bengaluru's Fouaad Mirza officially confirmed his Olympic berth in May, but it was his sheer hard work and focus over the last few years, which helped him achieve the feat.

Such has been his determination that the top rider, who trains in Germany, has hardly been home for the last couple of years. Obviously, the pandemic might also have played its part too. His last visit to the garden city was for a day or two in 2019 when he visited India to receive the prestigious Arjuna award, revealed his father Dr Hasneyn Mirza, an equestrian veterinarian. "Any parent would miss a child. That is there, but the thing is, you know what he is trying to achieve," says Hasney, who is aware of the tough competition in the quadrennial event.

"That (podium finish) will be an icing on the cake, but then, the point is that the world's best are going to compete in Tokyo. I am sure that he will give a good account of himself and anything can happen as he is motivated. If things go well, and if it is his day, he will be right there," adds Hasney.

With Covid-19 playing a spoilsport for a major part of the last 18 months, it hasn't been an easy turf for Mirza, who won two silver medals at the 2018 Asian Games. Further, Hasneyn told CE that after some qualifying events for which Mirza was preparing, got cancelled, things looked uncertain at one point. "That period was quite difficult for him. There was so much uncertainty. At the end of the day, a horse is like an athlete. If you have got a target of competing in an event, then you are working towards the event, and get the horse to reach a certain level of fitness to compete. If the event gets cancelled then you have to take the foot off the pedal," says Hasneyn, who is thankful towards Embassy International Riding School Bengaluru for their support.

When it comes to the sport, the horse is equally important as the rider. With Mirza born into a family of horse riding, dating back to eight generations, he had a good idea about it. He started riding as a five-year-old at their farmhouse near Yelahanka in the city. That helped him understand the horses from an early age. With time, as he started to broaden his horizon, Mirza's knowledge of horses and the sport increased which ultimately helped him in his career. "One has to be really motivated, and hungry to do well. More than that, you need to have an in-depth knowledge about the horses. You have to read about their feeding, speak to nutritionists, look at innovative ways of feeding, and do other things," adds Hasneyn, a proud father.

On Tuesday, Fouaad changed his horse, picking Seigneur Medicott for Tokyo Olympics 2020.

> One has to be really motivated, and hungry to do well. More than that, you need to have an in-depth knowledge about the horses

The Indo-Korean cultural collaboration aims to give performing artistes a breather through an art workshop

RECOUPING THE ART

> No shows and no performance is equal to having no water and no food. This is an integral part of an artiste's creative space and livelihood, without which, the artistic value is lost
>
> Jayachandran Palazhy, artistic director, Attakkalari Centre, Movement Arts

SANATH PRASAD

THE ongoing restrictions on social gatherings due to the pandemic has had a significant effect on performing arts, reflecting its severe impact on the sector. Many performing arts institutions have adapted digital services and one such institution is the Attakkalari Centre for Movement Arts, Bengaluru.

"Performing arts is a lifeline for artistes. Without that, we feel as if we're out of breath," says Jayachandran Palazhy, artistic director, Attakkalari Centre for Movement Arts. According to him, the new normal has forced them to go the digital way thus giving the artists a respite through technology. The city-based performing arts centre is collaborating with the Seoul Division of the International Dance Council, under the Government of South Korea, to give a platform for Indian performing artistes to hone their skills in the digital performances of the art form.

"The collaboration aims to train the cultural professionals in screen dance projects or performing arts for the camera. They can learn how to enthrall the audience using technology," says Palazhy.

The workshop will also provide financial assistance to the participants upon achieving 80% attendance and completion of the course, Palazhy claims. It will focus on training the artistes in screen-based dance; it will treat this art form as a special category and lay emphasis on its aesthetic choices, techniques, and histories. Sonia Soney, who is into performing arts for five years says, "This workshop is a cultural exchange between Korea and India. As trainers, we get to learn new perspectives on performing arts and that opens a new approach to art." Ranajoy Podder, a performing artistes for the past 16 years, says "For me performing arts is bread and butter. Some of the performing artists I know are now selling vegetables, delivering food for their living. This workshop will make a difference to our lives and livelihoods."

Performing artistes will get trained to express their art form before the camera.

Bike rally spreads awareness on Covid vaccination

Rotary Bangalore South and Rotaract Club of Bangalore, Jayanagar, in association with the International Fellowship of Motorcycling Rotarians (IFMR) and Avengers Club, organised a bike rally from Bangalore to Chintamani on Sunday. The rally, flagged off by District Governor Rtn. Fazal Mahmood at Lalbagh was intended to create awareness on Covid vaccination. The participants handed over biscuit packets to students, planted trees, and distributed ration kits to temple staff at Chintamani.

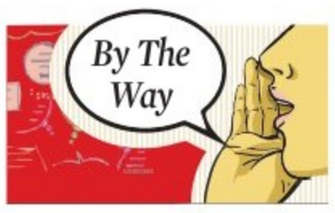
Revelations

Director Shashank revealed the name of his much-awaited anthology on his Twitter handle recently. The title goes by Aaddarinda which translates to 'Because of'. The film has five directors including K.M.Chaitanya, Yogaraj Bhat, Jaythirtha, Pawan Kumar, and Shashank filming their individual segments and stories for the upcoming film. His last directorial film was in 2018 with Thayige Thakka Mag'. Shashank's segment in the film will include Sanjana Anand, Pramukh Paramesh, and Shashank Purushottam.



8 years of Googly

Yash and Kriti Kharbanda's Googly recently marked eight years of the film's release. Many fans have taken to social media to share their favourite moments and posters from the film. Kriti, who now works in Hindi cinemas, replied to a tweet, "8 years already!?! Calls for a reunion @TheNameIsYash @PavanWadeyar @JayannaCombines #8yearsofgoogly". Fans are requesting the makers of Googly, a sequel for the film, but nothing is on cards yet.

It's a Child's Play

Be a part of the festival with your children and meet people from across the world, virtually

SHRIYA RAJACHANDRA

RANGA Shankara's online AHA! International Festival of Theatre for Children is back with a bang. This year's edition is set to focus on bringing the best of national and international plays, talks by experts, and workshops for children and the audience alike. The festival will be held online until July 31. The workshops and talks will be held on zoom while the plays will be available on insider.in, even after the release, informed the organisers.

Theatre maker and art-based educator Sananda Mukhopadhyaya's 'Golla', Gillo Repertory's 'The Water See', ThinkArts's 'When the colour ran away' and Daniel Gol's Schauburg Theatre for Young Audiences, and (Germany)'s Der Apfelwald/ 'The Applewood', are the plays that will be featured during the 12-day long festival.

The 11th edition of the festival includes webinars, talks, and workshops conducted by professionals on topics such as making theatre for toddlers, navigating the challenges and impacts of the digital medium on young minds (for parents), and a theatre appreciation course for children. AHA! Theatre for Children was launched in 2006 and focuses on sustaining theatre for children.

Speaking about theatre for children and the programme, Arundathi Nag, the founder of Ranga Shankara, elaborated on the impact of theatre and the AHA programme. "Tolerance, anger, empathy, understanding, listening, and observing, among others, are all important character traits that are developed by the watching of theatre. AHA! is a programme that we have given a lot of thought to because we care, and you would introduce your children to theatre because you care, too," says the thespian, who has been involved in multilingual theatre in India for over 25 years.

Meanwhile, Mukhopadhyaya is excited about the fact that during these trying times, "theatre is still reaching to children through this festival." "The world that children inhabit is complex in terms of what they see. For parents, it is a task to curate what their child might be seeing at all times. So, with a festival like this, when you have experts from the field of theatre who work with children specifically, you can be confident to buy a pass and know that for this week, they are watching something that has been mindfully made for them," she says.

Dr Shekhar Sheshadri, a mental health professional, believes that with the several waves of the current situation, an entire generation of children have missed out on a critical social experience leading to developmental implications. With this in mind and in order to mitigate the impact, he believes that it is necessary to create such festivals where creativity and imagination are restored. "With students returning to school, these festivals will serve as a bridge between the learning gap and child wellbeing. You need to start these kinds of experiences to bridge the gap," he adds.

PINCHA MAYURASANA

(FEATHERED PEACOCK POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'pincha' means feather, 'mayur' means peacock and 'asana' means pose. This asana resembles a peacock showing its colourful feathers and spreading positivity all around. It is a balancing inversion that displays strength and beauty, and helps the practitioner overcome a fear of falling through mental and physical balance. It is also known as Forearm Stand. It increases blood flow to the brain, which reduces stress and promotes feelings of clarity and peace. It strengthens the whole body, especially the shoulder and core muscles. It opens the Ajna (third eye) Chakra.

STEPS

- Start in Adho Mukha Svanasana. Rest down your elbows and place your forearms on the floor. Your forearms must be under the shoulder and aligned.
- Raise your head up and make a right angle between your forearms and upper arm by walking your legs toward your head. Firm up your shoulder blades inside the back of your torso to launch into the inversion.
- Bend your right knee and try to hop up your right leg while keeping your left heel on the floor extending through the heel.
- Make a few attempts with the right leg to find balance while maintaining coordination with the left leg.
- As your right leg sets up, bring up your left leg and straighten both legs in the air while maintaining the posture on the palms, elbows, and forearms.
- Draw in your navel, engage your inner thigh and abdominal muscles to provide activeness in the lower body. Your head should be above the floor and gaze forward. Maintain it for 15 seconds. Bring your left leg down with an exhalation and then your right leg. Walk back your feet and straighten your elbows. Return to the original pose and then relax.

BENEFITS

- Helps you in making your shoulders, arms and back stronger.
- Gives your neck, chest, shoulders and belly a good stretch.
- Improves your concentration and increases your balancing power.
- Gives you inner strength and makes you physically healthy.
- Increases your stamina, calms your brain, stress, and mild depression.

LIMITATIONS

- It will be difficult for beginners to stop your elbows from sliding away from each other, but it will be relatively easy when you practice regularly.
- If you have heart ailments or high blood pressure, avoid this.
- Women during pregnancy and menstruation should avoid this.
- People suffering from headache, surgery in the abdomen or near the waist region and injury to the back, neck, wrist, shoulder, must avoid this.
- Practise in the presence of a yoga expert.

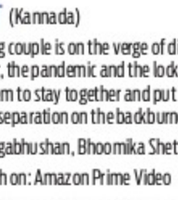
WHAT'S ON TED TALKS

1 THE SURPRISINGLY LOGICAL BRAINS OF BABIES BY LAURA SCHULZ

How do babies learn so much from so little so quickly? In a fun, experiment-filled talk, cognitive scientist Laura Schulz shows how our young ones make decisions with a surprisingly strong sense of logic, well before they can talk.



2 WOMEN, WARTIME AND DREAM OF PEACE BY ZAINAB SALBI

In war we often see only the frontline stories of soldiers and combat. AT TEDGlobal 2010, Zainab Salbi tells powerful "backline" stories of women who keep everyday life going during conflicts, and calls for women to have a place at the negotiating table once fighting is over.

3 HOW ONLINE ABUSE OF WOMEN HAS SPIRALED OUT OF CONTROL BY ASHLEY JUDD

In this searching, powerful talk, Ashley Judd recounts her ongoing experience of being terrorized on social media for her unwavering activism and calls on citizens of the Internet, the tech community, law enforcement and legislators to recognize the offline harm of online harassment.

4 VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN — IT'S A MEN'S ISSUE BY JACKSON KATZ

Domestic violence and sexual abuse are often called "women's issues." But in this bold, blunt talk, Jackson Katz points out that these are intrinsically men's issues — and shows how these violent behaviors are tied to definitions of manhood. A clarion call for us all -- women and men — to call out unacceptable behaviour and be leaders of change.

MEHREEN PIRZADA
TO MAKE HER SANDALWOOD DEBUT WITH SHIVARAJKUMAR'S 124TH

A SHARADHAA

ACTOR Mehreen Pirzada is set to make her Sandalwood debut in Shivarajkumar's 124th film, directed by Ram Dhulipudi. The makers, who are gearing up to start the project in August, were in the process of finalising the starcast, and the heroine of popular films like F2 and Pattas has been selected," says our source. The actor, who has liked the script, is said to have given a green signal, and an official announcement from the production end is awaited.

Mehreen, an established name in Telugu, who also acted in Tamil films, was supposed to make her Kannada debut much earlier, but the projects didn't materialise. Mehreen is currently shooting for Anil Ravipudi's F3 and another project helmed by Maruthi made under UV Creations.

The F2 actor will be part of debutant director Ram Dhulipudi's first Kannada film

Shivarajkumar 124, presented by Balasreeram Studios, is billed to be an emotional love story doubling as a family drama, and will feature Shivanna in two shades, including one as an army officer.

Also starring Nassar, Sampath, Sadhu Kokila and singer-actor Mangalik in pivotal roles. The film jointly produced by Swathi Vanapalli, Srikanth Dhulipudi and Narala Srinivas Reddy, will have Kudupudi Vijaykumar executing the project. Tagaru composer Charan Raj will team up with Shivanna once again for this project, which has Ravi Kumar Sana as the cinematographer, and Ravi Santhuhaklu as the art director.

BHAJARANGI 2
TO HIT THEATRES ON SEPT 10

The Shivarajkumar-starrer action-drama directed by Harsha and bankrolled by Jayanna Films, will be out on the festive occasion of Ganesh Chaturthi

CE FEATURES

With Karnataka Government permitting the reopening of theatres, Sandalwood is gearing up to release some long-awaited big-ticket films. If all goes to plan, one of the big star films to hit theatres will be the Shivarajkumar-starrer Bhajarangi 2. The action-drama directed by A Harsha and bankrolled by Jayanna Films is set to be released on September 10 on the occasion of Ganesh Chaturti.

Although the makers had earlier planned for an August release, the film will now hit the screens this September. With the release date being fixed, the post-production work is going on in full swing. When the government lifted the recent lockdown, Harsha had told us in an interview that only 40 per cent of the post-production work was left in Bhajarangi 2. The film also marks the second collaboration between Bhavana and Shivanna after Tagaru. Also starring Shruti, Loki, Cheluvaraj, and reputed theatre artistes in important roles, Bhajarangi 2 has cinematography by J Swamy.

With Bhajarangi 2 marking the third film of the actor-director duo, they are not wasting any time in moving on to their next as Shivanna's landmark 125th film, Vedha, will be directed by Harsha.

MEEZAAN IN THE MADHOUSE

SHILAJIT MITRA

Meezaan Jafri wasn't even born when the Chura Ke Dil Mera track first dropped. And he was just eight when Priyadarshan's 2003 rib-tickler, Hungama, was released. Naturally, stepping onto the sets of Hungama 2 felt like entering one's childhood. "I still remember watching the first film in Globus cinema in Bandra (Mumbai)," Meezaan recalls. "My whole childhood has been defined by Priyan sir's movies. That also includes Chup Chup Ke, Bhagam Bhag, Hera Pheri, Garam Masala, De Dana Dan, Hulchul, Bhool Bhulaiyaa…."

The actor on entering the Priyadarshan world and holding his own before Paresh Rawal and Rajpal Yadav

In Hungama 2, Meezaan joins Paresh Rawal, Shilpa Shetty, and Pranitha Subhash in a tale of crisscrossing chaos. The basic plot-which kicks off with Meezaan being pinned the father of a toddler-is adapted from the 1994 Mohanlal comedy Minnaram. There's characteristic madness, and an army of Priyadarshan alums: Rajpal Yadav, Tiku Talsania, Manoj Joshi, Johnny Lever. "It was so intimidating to be starring with such stalwarts," Meezaan concedes. "I kept thinking, 'Will I be able to do justice?' But luckily, Priyan sir handled it superbly and got the best performance out of me." The son of Jaaved Jaaferi and grandson of late actor Jagdeep, Meezaan has comedy in his veins. Still, this is the first time he has attempted the genre, his debut being the Sanjay Leela Bhansali-produced musical Malaal in 2019.

"It took me a day or two to get into the groove," he says. "I obviously got better and better every day on set. But I completely agree when people say it's the most difficult genre." A Priyadarshan comedy, Meezaan adds, is ultimately situational, so actors can't slack off or rely on sight gags for laughs. "My character is always on the edge of his seat. He's always nervous as he's trying to prove his innocence. So I couldn't sit around in a single frame." It didn't help that Priyadarshan cuts the most unlikely figure on set. "He looks like a serious mafia don," Meezaan laughs. "But the minute he starts talking, he is so much fun."

Given the popularity of the first film, there's palpable anxiety about Hungama 2 hitting the mark. Meezaan sounds confident about wooing over the original's fans. "Our film has turned out well and I'm not worried about anything. I know once it comes out, people will be happy with it." Does he have a favourite scene from the Priyadarshan oeuvre? I mention mine – Rajpal Yadav and Razak Khan squabbling over broken cups in Hungama. "Mine is in Dhol," Meezaan chirps. "Someone asks, "What should the paan shop be called?" Something that rolls off the tongue. So Rajpal Yadav says, "Thook".

It's a wrap for Family Pack

CE FEATURES

The shooting of PRK Productions' upcoming film, Family Pack was wrapped up on Monday. The makers shared a few pictures from the sets that saw Puneeth Rajkumar and his wife and producer, Ashwini spending time with the cast and crew.

Family Pack is bankrolled under the actor's banner in association with Likith Shetty and Deshraj Rai. The comedy entertainer directed by Arjun Kumar stars Likith Shetty and Amrutha Iyengar in the lead. The film also consists of a host of other actors -- Rangayana Raghu, Dattanna, Sihi Kahi Chandru, Achyuth Kumar, Padmaja Rao, Tilak and Nagabhushana in important roles.

With dialogues written by Masti, Family Pack has music composed by Gurukiran, and cinematography by Uday Leela.

CE FEATURES

With shooting restrictions lifted again, the makers of Chehre have resumed the final leg of the film. Directed by Rumi Jafry, the mystery thriller is led by Amitabh Bachchan and Emraan Hashmi.

Recently, Big B returned to set to shoot the title track video of Chehre in Mumbai. The video is being directed by Kookie Gulati, who last directed the Abhishek Bachchan-starrer Big Bull.

Big B has recited a poem written by Rumy Jafry for the title track that has been put to tune by Shekhar Ravjiani, with 107 musicians of Prague.

Producer Anand Pandit shares, "This film is extremely special to all of us. We have poured our hearts into it. It is an exciting movie and we have been waiting for over a year to bring it to the big screen for the audience to enjoy it. We want to make sure that the experience has everything and that is why this title track video is so important. I am glad that we can shoot with Bachchan ji again for it. We have maintained all safety protocols and are working on making this a memorable shooting experience for all."

Chehre is produced by Anand Pandit Motion Pictures and Saraswati Entertainment Private Limited. The film also stars Annu Kapoor, Krystle D'Souza, Dhritiman Chatterjee, Raghubir Yadav, Siddhanth Kapoor and Rhea Chakraborty.
